Antioch Board Opens Larger Meeting Room

by RUTH SUTTON

The new, larger Antioch Village Board council chamber will be usable in time for the next meeting, trustees promised the crowd standing in the back of the room Feb. 16. Mayor Ray Toft also asked the purchase of additional chairs. The old fire station behind the village offices has been converted for this purpose.

Nearly 40 citizens attended, most of them neighbors to present a petition objecting to a proposed rezoning of more than six acres near Anita St. from R-4 to R-5 for multiple-unit apartment buildings. (See separate story on planning commission meeting.)

The board voted to accept their petition and pass it on to the planning commission, where the rezoning was scheduled for public hearing on Thursday. In answer to a question, the village attorney, Kenneth Clark, said that if the petition was signed by owners of 20 percent of the property fronting on any side of the project, then it would require a two-thirds vote of the board for approval.

In other action the board authorized the attorney to draw up an ordinance allowing a special use zoning to sell beer and wine at the Vault restaurant. Board members raised the question of whether the owners, Adija and Jimi Alijoski, might prefer to wait until the license renewal date on May 1, rather than have to pay the fee again.

The trustees also instructed the attorney to draw up the proper papers to clear up a number of violations in buildings on Main St. and North Av. Rod White, chairman of the committee on permits, planning and zoning, pointed out that the building on Main is scheduled to be torn down.

Don Amundsen, chairman of the finance committee, reported on a meeting Monday with State Rep. Robert Churchill and Adeline Geo. Karis. They had presented Antioch's application to the Build Illinois program for approximately $1,006,000 for four projects, and said they were asked to prioritize these.

After discussion, the trustees voted the following priorities: 1) Extend the sanitary sewer from North Ave. to the state line. 2) Install a storm water detention basin east of Anita St. and north of Depot (approximately three and a half acres). 3) Install detention basin south of Depot. 4) Extension of water and sewer east on Rte. 173 from near McMillen St. to Brown Rd.

After considering bids from three agents, the board voted to stay with the present insurance carrier, as recommended by the finance committee. The agent is Robert Wozniak. Other bidders were Roger Sorenson and Chuck Cermak.

July 10-11 was approved for sale of poppies in the village by the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW).

The board approved advancing a fire and police dispatcher, Elizabeth Spiegel, to full-time status. Police Chief Chuck Miller (Continued on Page 14)

Lakeland Offers Prize For Everyone

A total of $10,000 in prizes will be given away by this newspaper and associated Lakeland Newspapers in a contest announced this week.

All new subscribers and current readers who renew their subscriptions automatically will be eligible for one of the prizes on a long list topped by a Windjammer cruise for two in the Bahamas.

In addition, persons interested in competing for a prize can fill out an entry blank at Lakeland's main office, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake. No purchase is necessary.

"What's different about this contest," pointed out Publisher William H. Schroeder, "is that everyone entered will win a prize. That's why the contest is called 'A Prize for Everyone Sweepstakes'."

Two first prizes of family lodging at the popular Fortune Place condominiums in the Disney-EPCOT area of Florida will be awarded. Three runner-up prizes of Getaway Weekends at the Essex Inn in Chicago will be given away. See inside for details of other prizes in the Prize for Everyone Sweepstakes.

The hefty prize total has been posted to extend the market coverage of Lakeland Newspapers' ever growing circulation, the publisher stated.

"It's also a way of saying 'thank you' to our present subscribers," Schroeder noted.

All entry forms must be completed by Saturday, May 9. A random drawing will be held Monday, May 11. Winners will be notified in an announcement in the May 14 issue of Lakeland Newspapers.

Antioch HOD Landfill Set For US EPA Monitoring

Additional protective monitoring measures will be installed at the Antioch HOD landfill site by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S.EPA), announced Raymond P. Toft, Antioch mayor.

Twenty new test wells will be installed around the site to test underground water periodically. Soil samples from various depths also will be tested.

Mayor Toft said, "We are grateful that our efforts to encourage governmental investigation of this landfill, which has been the subject of so much litigation, have been successful. Antioch citizens need to know that these environmental problems will be monitored in a responsible fashion," Toft said.

The site, now owned by Waste Management, Inc., covers approximately 80 acres northeast of Rtes. 173 and 83. Years of a series of hearings and court suits, some still pending, resulted in 1985 in a permanent injunction against any expansion of the landfill. The village has actively sought federal intervention.

Toft reported, "Citing the lack of monitoring information presently available at the site which was operated by Waste Management of Illinois, Inc., the United States Environmental Protection Agency has now initiated a work plan necessary to complete an expanded site inspection.

"The study will require the installation over the next six months of some 20 additional monitoring wells, the analysis of groundwater samples, and extensive chemical and geophysical analyses of soil samples. The tests will be designed to determine the thickness and effective separating capacity of the separating layer between the shallow sand and gravel aquifer under the site and the deeper aquifer," he said.

An aquifer is a body of water underground. Layers of water at different depths usually are separated by hard layers such as rock or clay. To date there have only been six test wells in four locations on the site, with the deepest about 27 ft. although the refuse goes down about 50 ft.

The purpose of the additional test wells is to determine how well the clay layer keeps water from moving between the two aquifers, since there also are glacial deposits in the clay. At the same time samples of soil will be taken from different depths and tested to determine the nature of the soil and what else is in it.

Ask Board To Okay Projects

The Antioch planning commission favorably recommended two proposed projects to the village board and denied a third at its meeting Thursday, Feb. 19.

The two projects which will come up at the village board meeting Monday, March 2, are:

are: planned unit development (PUD) on Anita St. with rezoning from R-4 to R-5 for apartment buildings and a car wash on Rte. 59.

Denied was a rezoning request from R-4 to R-5 for a different apartment project on Anita. This application goes to the zoning board, which has not yet considered it.

After 29 Years, Nelson To Retire From ACHS

by GLORIA DAVIS

Roy Nelson, a physical education teacher and former head football coach who has been at Antioch High School for 29 years will retire at the end of the present school year.

The Antioch High School Board of Education approved the acceptance of Nelson's resignation at its last regular board meeting on Thursday, Feb. 19. The board will honor Nelson for his years of service to the high school during the annual staff recognition program to be held at the end of May.

Approval was also given to the continuance of the Chapt. 1 summer school program, a federally funded program which is used to help incoming freshmen who are behind in reading and other communications skills catch-up before the start of school.

The annual dinner sponsored by the board for the boards of all the grade school feeder schools whose students move on to ACHS was set for April 14.

In other business, the board approved the start of an Ala Teen Program (for teens with alcoholic parents or guardians) in the 1987-88 school year.

The board also OK'ed the letting of bids for a watering system, the installation of washrooms and a concession stand at Polley Field.

Pupil Personnel Dir. Peter Pekkarinen reported that the registration for incoming freshmen had been completed and, at present, the Class of 1991 will have approximately 350 members.

Any incoming freshmen who have not registered should do so immediately by contacting the guidance office as soon as possible.

Antioch Grade Teachers Rarely Miss School

Superintendent Donald Skidmore applauded the excellent attendance record of certified teachers at Antioch Consolidated grade school district 34 during the board meeting Feb. 17.

He said the midyear attendance report for the certified staff averaged only 2.179 days absence per teacher. This included the long-term illness of one person, as well as personal and sick leaves for everyone.

Skidmore pointed out that this gives the students excellent continuity in the classroom, because substitute teachers rarely are needed. It also is reflected in a good student attendance rate.

Projected for the whole school year, the teachers would average 4.3 days absence per teacher. It compares favorably with the district's rates for the past four years. Absence rates of 6.5 days per year have been touted as excellent by articles in national education journals.

A student teacher, Linnae Kaminsky from Eastern University, has been assigned to the district from February through May. Her supervisors will be two teachers, Liesa Owens and Peg Zoller.

Add Computer Classes To Summer Grade School

A 1987 summer session for gifted as well as remedial subjects will be offered by Antioch Community Consolidated grade school district 34, the board voted at its meeting Feb. 17.

The new sessions for 1987 will be two labs for gifted computer students from grades 6 and 7. They will be selected on recommendation of the teachers from the computer education lab classes for grades 6, 7 and 8.

Remedial math and reading classes also will be offered again this year for students who score below the fiftieth percentile on the annual SRA achievement tests. Participants will be those recommended by teachers of kindergarten through grade 7 who are not in the special education summer program.

The district has been awarded a 1987 summer school grant from the state for $11,131.82. Preparing the summer school program for the board are Dave Johnson and Dave Rogowski.

Grass Lake Reviews Education Fund Deficit

At its regular meeting in February, the Board of Education at Grass Lake School Dist. 36 took action on a variety of issues.

The board reviewed the deficit situation in the Education Fund. It also itemized 17 programs that will have to be evaluated for possible cuts or elimination to help ease the burden on the Education Fund.

The Citizens' Advisory Committee, which gave its final report on Jan. 6, was dissolved during the February meeting of the board.

Two insurance purchases were authorized at the meeting. The board approved the purchase of a $3 million Umbrella Liability Insurance Policy, and a $1 million Director's Legal Liability Policy.

The firm of Dieck and Dieck was hired by the board to conduct the 1986-87 annual audit, and the 1987-88 school calendar was also approved.

11th Hour Door Opened

A long-time feared and despised technique in local elections—the 11th hour smear attack—has been made legal in a ruling by the Illinois Supreme Court that protects publishers of campaign brochures and handbills from being required to print their names on election flyers.

It will be interesting to see how the new ruling affects campaigns now in progress in connection with the April village elections.

Serious observers of elections immediately viewed the striking down of the state statute requiring publication of the source as unconstitutional and restriction of free speech as opening the door or giving a "blank check" to overly zealous campaigners to use scurrilous or defamatory pamphlets.

Justice Seymour Simon, writing for the court, pointed out that the former requirement for identification "stifles speech which has little or no tendency to misinform, let alone deceive." We're not so sure.

By banning anonymity, the law deterred many persons from expressing their opinions at all, resulting in an overall decrease in the flow of information, Justice Simon pointed out.

One expected reaction to the new sanction of anonymity will be more care than ever by responsible candidates to position themselves against the last minute unsigned broadside. How can they do this? For one thing, candidates will have to work harder at making their position known in advance. A hard-driving, thorough campaign will be the best protection against the 11th hour smear. Further, responsible candidates will have to make the utmost use of media outlets to broaden their appeal, even in local elections like our village council.

Without a doubt, the new ruling sanctioning anonymity will make for some lively windups to campaigns for local office at all levels, including some surprises.

Reform Means More Taxes

Illinois residents had better get used to digging down for the wave of new taxation heading their way.

The combination of a Republican governor bent on going out on a high note and a Democratic dominated General Assembly doesn't bode well for taxpayers.

Hot on the heels of a call by Gov. James Thompson for an increase in gasoline tax and auto licensing fees is the governor's appointment of a blue-ribbon committee to recommend administrative reform of the state sales tax system. In our book, tax reform is spelled M-O-R-E-T-A-X-E-S.

Signaling loudly and clearly that he is in his last term, Gov. Thompson has endorsed removing a sales tax exemption on computer software and nonprescription drugs to fund a sewer construction program.

One of the biggest jobs of the committee, and perhaps the key part for politicians, will be providing estimates on how much money could be raised by eliminating many sales tax exemptions. In the gunshots of the reformers are exemptions on such things as personal services, business services, equipment rental, advertising, professional services and health services.

The target for the reformers is the projected half million deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Legislative leaders are letting the governor go after new revenue and he appears to have accepted the chore eagerly.

Hang on to your pocketbooks!

Debate Over AIDS Engulfs Society--- Even Politics

by BILL SCHROEDER

What in the world is happening to the world, our world?

The airwaves are pelting us with conversation about the benefits of latex prophylactic devices and society is immersed in the debate on how and what to do about a situation being described as the AIDS epidemic, even before anyone knows whether it is an epidemic.

Even politics—pure politics—is being shoved aside by the furor over AIDS, at least by the Republican Assembly of Lake County, which had scheduled a meeting Thursday night, Feb. 26, to talk about AIDS instead of how to elect GOP candidates.

Bill Zimmermann, vice president of the conservative right wing group, had this to say about the meeting topic: "Without pushing the panic button, it behooves responsible people to be informed and determine, if possible, the best way for the Lake County community to deal with the situation (spread of AIDS)."

Among the scheduled speakers for a meeting set for Cook Library, Libertyville, were the Rev. Norman Schneller of Zion, and Dr. James Brophy, Ingleside resident who maintains a dental practice in Waukegan. Zimmermann reported that school, health and church representatives were being contacted to present views and information.

Even as the disease mounts in public concern, AIDS can be seen as a powerful force to move products out of gasoline station washrooms and drug store back counters into daily public conversation along with sending shivers down the spinal columns of everyone who contemplates what is happening.

Are we headed for the time when there will be a slot on every public meeting agenda for AIDS? Maybe the ultimate answer will be that everyone will be so bored with the AIDS debate that they'll be avoiding sexual contact.

Letter To The Editor:

Landfill Hindsight

Editor:

Fifteen years ago in the early 1970's, the drive down Rte. 83 and Rte. 137 south of Grayslake was different than it is today. If you traveled those roads, you did not have to be careful of a wet day when the road was muddy.

The sky was not filled with scavenging gulls. There was no unsightly 80 foot dingy grey mountain dominating the landscape. There was no odor to linger in your nostrils for miles. There were no huge garbage trucks up from places like Buffalo Grove.

What you saw when you drove along those roads was a wetland area, a peat bog and some cattails: a very pleasant sight.

In 1976, ARF Landfill applied for permission from the county to begin a landfill operation at their 80 acre site. Knowing what we know today, seeing what we see today, and smelling what we do today, few among us would have sit idly by and allowed the process to begin. Now we have to live with the result of our lack of vigilance 10 years ago. As they say, hindsight is 20/20.

In 1987, ARF Landfill is again requesting permission from the county board to bring more garbage to our area. In addition, Waste Management is requesting permission from the county board to build an incinerator and landfill south of ARF that would process 500 truckloads (2500 tons) of garbage 24 hours per day.

The difference in 1987 is that the public is much more aware of these proposals. We now have an excellent opportunity to avoid an instant replay of the last 10 years of garbage accumulation (actually 28 years when you consider the 30 acre EDCO Landfill adjacent to ARF which operated from 1958-1972 prior to the formation of the EPA and resulting regulation of landfills).

We now have a chance to avoid further defilement of the beauty and value of our area. We have a unique and fleeting chance to have a voice in assuring orderly and quality progress for central Lake County.

There are at least four things that each of us can do.

First, we can faithfully inform ourselves with the facts by reading the local papers which have provided extensive coverage of the issues. We can attend the hearings which are being held at the county building in Waukegan. We can attend local meetings held by Citizens of Lake County for Environmental Action Reform (CLEAR).

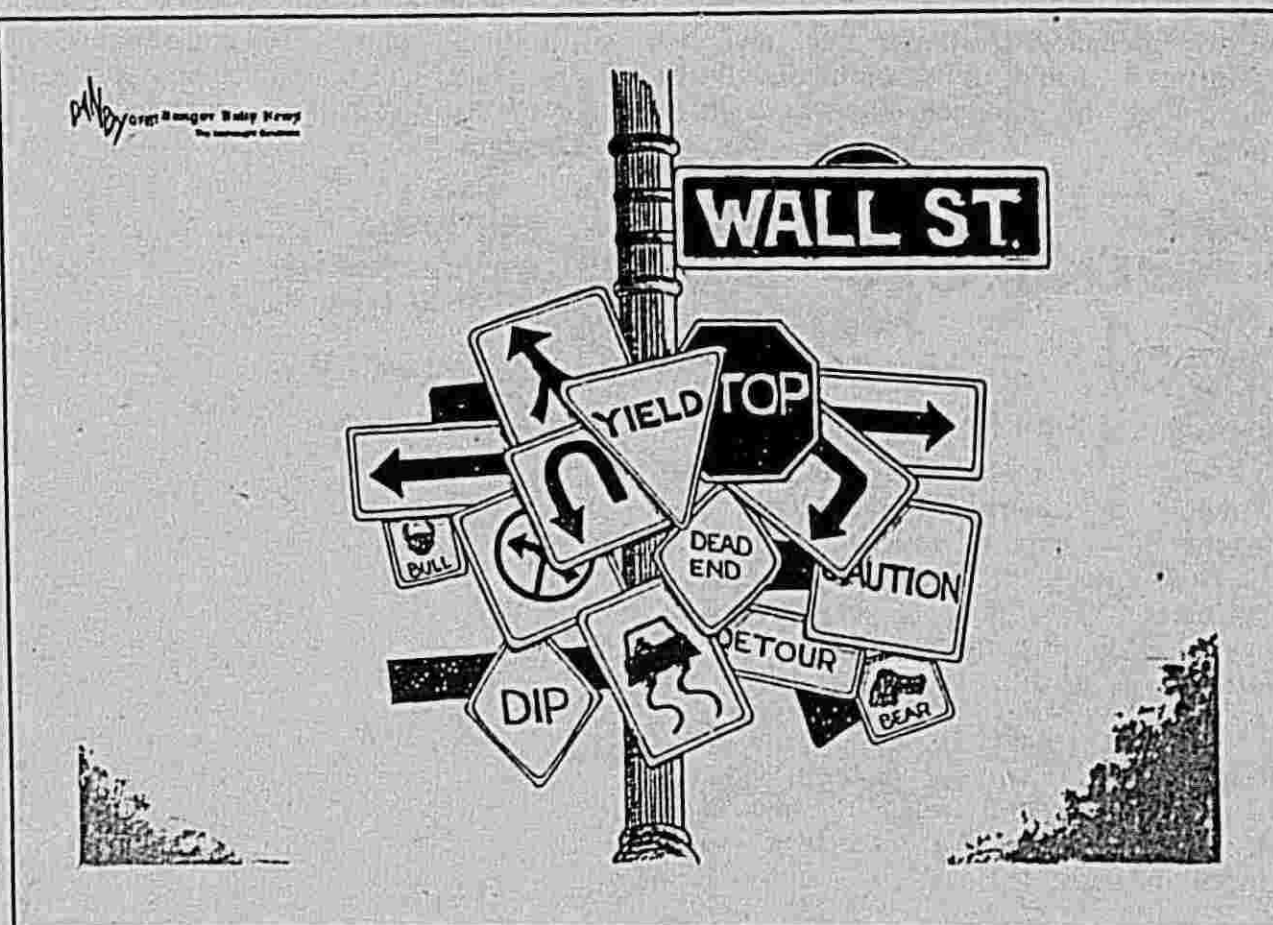

Second, we can write or call our county board representatives to urge them to disapprove the ARF expansion and the Waste Management proposal.

Third, we can do more than talk about how upset we are and contribute to CLEAR, which has already acquired tens of thousands of dollars in legal fees fighting these issues for all of us.

Fourth, we can begin the only permanent solution to solid waste disposal: reduce the volume of garbage that we put on the curb each week. By conserving and recycling we can begin a conservation re-education process which will insure the best possible environment for us and future generations.

Let us seize the opportunity to disprove the old hindsight adage and make foresight 20/20.

Kirk Players Counting '10 Little Indians'

For everyone who likes to curl up with a good mystery every now and then, the Kirk Players will be offering the opportunity to do just that with one of the greatest mysteries of all times, Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians."

The "solution" will be revealed at Mundelein High School on March 6 and 7 with an 8 p.m. curtain. All proceeds will benefit the Military Order of the Cootie, HoTai 67 Pup Tent of Illinois.

"Ten Little Indians" is the play adapted from the original novel, "And Then There Were None," considered by many Christie enthusiasts to be her masterpiece.

The story revolves around 10 totally unique guests, none of whom has ever met their host. It soon becomes apparent to all gathered on Indian Island, that Mr. or Miss U.N. Owen (or as Judge Wargrave so cleverly puts it "by a slight stretch of fancy, unknown") has brought them together to be tried, judged, and executed, for "crimes" committed in their past. It also soon becomes apparent that this mysterious host is actually one of the guests themselves.

The guest list includes the eminent Judge Wargrave (John W. Lynn); the secretary, Vera Claythorne (Wendi Lynn); the adventurous Captain Lombard (Tom Schrimpf); Mr. Blore (Hill Carter); self-righteous Emily Brent (Carol Marie Fischesser); Dr. Armstrong (Bill Phillips); General Mackenzie (Jesse Becker); playboy Anthony Marston (Russ Slade); the domestics, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers (Carl Johnson and Mary Ann Rees) and the boatman, Narracott (Greg Fischesser).

This exciting mystery has been brought together under the direction of Jon Leslie Lynn with the set design by Greg Fischesser and production stage manager Rick Bergman.

Tickets are available from Kirk Players, the Military Order of the Cootie and at the door on production nights. For additional information call (312) 566-6594 after 6 p.m.

She's 'Annie'

Desiree Russell, 11, Mundelein, will be appearing in lead role in 'Annie' at Glencoe's Tudor Court Theater opening, March 13. Ticket price is $7.50. For information call (312)835-5203.

Writers Fete Artists

The Ragdale Foundation, an artists' colony in Lake Forest, has published a unique anthology and art book entitled "The Creative Process: Ten Years At Ragdale."

The book is a companion piece to the Ragdale Foundation traveling exhibit which toured Chicago and metropolitan Chicago area museums and galleries during 1986, Ragdale's 10th anniversary year.

It is a collection of prose, poetry and visual art by 25 former Ragdale residents. It also contains rough drafts and preliminary sketches, providing rare insights into the creative process itself. David Gibson, Michiki Itatani and Militza Nikich-Loving are Chicago area visual artists represented, and Susan Bergman, Rochelle Distelheim, and Julie Parson are Chicago area writers.

The book is available at the College of Lake County Bookstore.

Shrine Circus Arrives

The 45th annual Shrine Circus opens March 6 with a dazzling array of spectacular acts--daredevil aerialists, show-stopping illusionists, nonsensical chimps, zany clowns and the world's favorite elephant.

The fun-for-all-ages extravaganza will have a three-week run, through March 29, at Medinah Temple, 600 N. Wabash, Chicago, featuring two shows on weekdays and three on Saturdays and Sundays. Tickets cost only $3 to $9 for this unsurpassed family show and go on sale Feb. 10 at the Medinah Box Office.

"We didn't think we could top last year's show...but we did," said Morton H. Petrie, Circus coordinator. "This year's combination of acts is simply outstanding. This is a must-see opportunity for everyone who enjoys wholesome entertainment by talented performers."

Circus-goers will have to see the act of Ron and Joy Holiday to believe it. And, even then, they may not believe the unusual combination of adagio (acrobatic dancing), magical illusions and exotic, trained...and uncaged...jungle cats. The duo, who have performed for the royal family in Monaco, have played to rave reviews all over the world.

Dondi, the popular pachyderm of television fame, returns to the Shrine Circus for the fourth time. Her funny and crowd-pleasing antics, orchestrated by trainers Phil and Francine Schacht, show youngsters why the producers of Circus of the Stars and Bozo's Circus have booked this pulchritudinous star as a major tv performer.

The Rudi Lenz Chimpanzees show why they're known as the almost human little clowns of the jungle as they zip through a fast-paced series of silly stunts and terrific tricks. They're here direct from a tour of major Canadian sports shows.

High above the arena floor, death defying leaps hold audiences on the edge of their seats as the Shrine Circus pulls out all the stops--and the nets--for a daring group of aerial artists.

The Flying Cortez--among the youngest and most daring men and women in the business--grab for the flying trapeze in mid-air, executing double and two-and-a-half somersaults and double cutaways with a half-twist. They've just returned to the United States from an extended tour in Tokyo. The Navarro Troupe dazzles audiences with speed and action on the unicycles in their "silver wheels" act.

Danuda the Spider Goddess performs on the steel, chrome-plated motorized spinning spider web. She'll defy the law of gravity with an unbelievable head over heels rope-spin--the amazing upside down foot walk--during a full revolve of the spider web.

Still up in the air, the Robinson Duo performs "Artistry Aloft," working on the suspended cradle and doing hand-to-hand catches and helicopter spins.

The Dolly Sisters, three lovely ballerinas from Madrid, go high above the circus floor to perform daring feats on the triple trapeze. The Juggling Wonders, a unique European juggling act, amaze the senses of circus goers as they throw anything and everything--and catch it.

Spike does his best to control his comedy car, the little old cantankerous gas buggy that always gives him fits...and keeps the youngsters in laughing fits, too.

The entire performance will be accompanied by the upbeat circus music of Russell Darr and the Shrine Orchestra.

The box office at Medinah Temple is now open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays. During the show's run, the box office will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

Cultural Association Needs Help

The Chain O'Lakes Cultural Arts Assn. requests support in its membership drive. The association is dedicated to helping individuals throughout the entire area showcase their talents and bring the joy of music and the beauty of all art forms to area residents.

Thanks to the wonderful interest and contributions of the citizens and organizations in the area, the association has been able to complete another successful year of growth and development.

This past year the association met one of its major goals by establishing a scholarship fund. This fund will enable it to aid local students who wish to further their education in the field of fine arts.

Anyone who doesn't have a great deal of time to devote to the efforts of the association, can help by becoming a member. As a non-profit organization, a tax-deductible contribution will help the association provide for the Chain O'Lakes Orchestra, as well as bring the enjoyment of cultural arts to the community through various events. Anyone who is a member will be kept informed of activities.

For information, write: Chain O'Lakes Cultural Arts Assn., P.O. Box 394, Fox Lake, IL 60020.

Zersen, One Of Top 10

Rehearse 'Husband For Opal'

Four Star Productions is now in rehearsal with the first of two hilarious comedies chosen for their new season at Riptides' Theatre-on-the-Bay in Johnsburg.

The partnership of Allen, Alton and Cina (Four Star Production, Inc.) consisting of three professional actresses and a professional tech crew, has formed a successful working theatre company that has entertained group audiences from all over the states of Illinois and Wisconsin.

Starting March 1 and running through June 20, the season opener, 'A Husband for Opal,' is a guaranteed escape from world tension. You will view the farcical efforts of a warm-hearted old 'rag lady' as she strives to arrange a marriage for her spinster girl friend to 'Mr. Handsome' who turns out to be a 95-year-old, ex-tugboat captain and escapee from 'Bessie Bunny's bunny hut.'

The cast includes Anne-Marie Cina, Bill Bunton, Yvonne Alton, Lillian Allen and Danny Turner.

Luncheon and theatre available Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Lunchtime is noon, theatre 1:30 p.m., for $14.90 (inclusive). Sunday features a breakfast buffet and theatre. Homemakers, Others, Observe HEA Week

As Homemakers Extension Association (HEA) Week is observed, Feb. 22 to 28, let's take a look at what the organization involves.

Education is HEA's main goal. Members get together each month in a social setting to learn about family relationships, food and nutrition, public policy, consumer issues and more.

Opportunities for leadership and community involvement are other benefits of HEA membership. Anyone can experience the chance to meet new people and make new friends. Male or female, singles or couples, young or old may join HEA. There is no discrimination by race, color, national origin, sex, religion or creed.

HEA educational programs are provided with the help of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and other land grant institutions.

To encourage membership, annual dues are kept at a minimum of $10 and are used to provide programs, materials and office supplies.

HEA Week will be celebrated throughout the state as a means of informing the public about the organization through displays, posters and exhibits.

Three of the county units are charter units: Avon, Volo and Wadsworth. They were honored with 50-year membership in the national federation, and in March will celebrate 54 years of existence in Lake County.

The Volo unit holds each monthly meeting in the home of one of its 39 members, who range in age from late 30's to an active 87! Jackie Victor joined in 1958 and is the longest standing member. Goldie Fisher was one of the original members, dropped out for a while, but has rejoined as of 1974. Goldie has seen many changes in the association, but the primary goal is still the same: A Better Way To A Better Life Through Education.

Volatile Market Creates Fear

Predictably, the record volatility and record heights of the Dow Jones Industrial average have sent shock waves through Wall Street—and waves of fear about another stock-market crash and depression through Main Street.

While the present volatility may be lethal for short-term investors, most Americans have nothing to fear.

The stock market is not about to crash, and a 1929-style collapse of the banking system, linked to the earlier crash, is now virtually impossible.

"Any comparison between today's market and 1929 is absurd," said Charles Fahy, a principal of Houston-based Phillips, Fahy and Rockwell, an investment advisory service and brokerage firm. "There are substantial differences between the financial structures. We are really talking about two different worlds."

Here are the differences between the stock market in 1929 and 1987, and why it won't crash again.

Regulation. In 1929, stock markets and securities traders were largely unregulated. In 1934, Congress established the Securities and Exchange Commission to regulate and enforce laws governing the trading of stocks and other securities in the United States.

Among the accomplishments of the SEC has been the elimination of excessive, speculative borrowing. The pre-crash 1929 market sealed its own fate through a wild pyramid of speculation and outrageous borrowing.

Speculators—individuals, companies and banks—could buy stock on a huge margin, paying 10 cents on the dollar and 90 cents in credit for stock buys, leaving little equity to protect the loan if the stock lost value.

"In 1929, an investor could borrow his initial investment from a bank on nothing but his good name and a good job," said Fahy. "Then the investor could turn around and leverage the money he borrowed."

Even worse, the bank could take the note it held against the investor and use it as collateral to margin its own stock purchases. All of this made for a house-of-cards financial environment.

Today, banks can no longer invest in the stock market. Individual investors can still buy on margin, but now at least 50 percent of the cash cannot be borrowed.

To be publicly traded, securities now must be registered with the SEC. During the 1920s, certain market manipulators sold stock in non-existent companies—a scam that is impossible today for shares bought on the stock exchanges.

The SEC has the power to enforce all of these rules. In 1929, states were responsible for enforcement of securities legislation. "At most, states employed three or four people for enforcement," said Paul Ulenholz, a Chicago-based securities attorney. Today, the SEC has a staff of 2,000. The National Assn. of Securities Dealers, a private organization, has more than 800 enforcement personnel and is authorized by the government to enforce the group's "Rules of Fair Practice," which are designed to protect investors and the public interest.

Stock Values. Currently, the value of the securities of most publicly-traded U.S. companies is less than or equal to the worth of the company. Not so in 1929. Then, the value of some stocks was hundreds of times higher than the actual value of the company.

Technology. Technological advances have eliminated the grander schemes that contributed to the 1929 crash. Computer tracking of trades makes it easy to detect irregularities within minutes of a transaction, as opposed to the days or months that it took in 1929.

Computerized trading programs, so often blamed for the large one-day swings on today's market, actually are in the long run a stabilizing force, according to some experts. "In the past, an insignificant, albeit emotional, event could cause the market to tank (go down)," said Fahy. "Today, the computers buy and sell according to specified points and real economic relationships, not on hunches or moods."

Higher Volume. The entire market is more stable, because there is a larger number of shares, and the normal daily volume of trading has increased dramatically.

Only 10 years ago, if 10 million shares changed hands it was considered a very busy day. Today, a normal day will see 150 million or more shares traded. (The recent record was 302 million shares on Jan. 23.) Because there are so many more shares and so much normal trading on the market, it is more difficult for a few investors to cause wide swings.

"The market base is too broad for a panic to become engulfing," said Thomas Haden, a broker with Hanifen Imhoff, Inc., in Fort Collins, Colo.

Sophisticated Investors. Perhaps more than any other factor, the educated investor is the best bet against another crash. Modern communications has placed timely information instantly in the hands of everyone, rather than in the hands of a privileged few.

"If stocks are so intrinsically connected to the real value of a company, their value is virtually guaranteed. Smart investors will want to own them," said Fahy.

Could a 1929 crash occur again? The Meyers Report and other experts do not believe so. The crash of 1929 was not inevitable. Rather, it was the result of an era of naive trust, under-regulation and mismanagement.

Grass Lake School Has Annual Winter Ski Outing

The Grass Lake School (GLS) junior high held their ninth annual GLS winter ski outing Friday evening at Alpine Valley Ski Resort, East Troy, Wis.

Participating were 46 students from grades 6, 7 and 8. Principal Raymond Liss plus teachers, parents, and former students joined the group as chaperones and helpers for a total attendance of 80.

The youngsters received ski lessons after being classified as beginners, intermediates, or advanced skiers for their respective hills. Many of the students learn to ski on these outings for the first time, and some have gone on to enter their high school ski teams.

Village Board

reported that she had satisfactorily completed her six-month probationary period.

Opening of bids on improvement of the Antioch Sewer plant was postponed from Mar. 5 to Tuesday, March 10 at 2 p.m. at the village hall. A pre-bid conference with the village engineer was scheduled for Friday, Feb. 20, so prospective bidders could ask all their questions at the same time.

Mabel Lou Weber, chairman of the utility committee, explained the change of dates would permit a larger number of firms to bid. She said nine had inquired so far.

Trustees discussed how to increase Antioch's sewage treatment plant capacity after the new construction is completed. They said the expanded plant would start at 1,300,000 gallons per day and operate for a while to see how efficient it is, then they could petition the EPA to re-rate the plant for a higher capacity based on this experience. They added that the present plant is operating at two-thirds of its capacity, and could handle more homes or business proportionately.

The board instructed the village clerk, Marilyn Sterbenz, to answer a letter from Rudy Magma, Round Lake mayor, and confirm that Antioch representatives would plan to attend any meeting to discuss the problems of the regional sewage treatment plant at Fox Lake. Weber pointed out that although Antioch does not use the regional plant and is planning to expand its own, the village still is legally part of the northwest sewer district.

Magma's letter pointed out a lack of adequate capacity in the Fox Lake plant. He wrote that not any community in the Northwest district would have sufficient bonding power for the cost of its proposed expansion, so that such a project must become a joint effort.

Clerk Sterbenz also announced a meeting with Nortran officials on the proposed Soo Line passenger service for commuters. She said it will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Mar. 16 in the Antioch village hall.

Antioch Drops Two Games Prepare For Regionals

The way the Antioch boys basketball team has been playing of late, coach Don Zeman had good reason to hope for a successful weekend against Zion-Benton and Warren.

"I was disappointed after the way we had played the last two weeks," Zeman said after his club dropped the two North Suburban Conference games.

The Blue Devils are on a roll heading into next week's regional action. Victories over North Suburban Conference champion Lake Forest and Antioch made it four straight for Warren. The wins improved Warren to 17-7 overall, 12-4 in the NSC.

Antioch lost to Warren 61-39 after losing to Zion-Benton 56-48 the night before. The losses dropped Antioch to 6-18, 5-12 in league play.

"I'm disappointed because of the way we had been playing the last three weeks," Antioch coach Don Zeman said.

Antioch had its troubles against Zion-Benton. The key factor in the eight-point loss was Zion's 16-4 edge in points from the free-throw line.

"That was probably our fault. We did not establish an inside game," Zeman said.

Tom Wells had 13, John Mehnert 13 and Rich Korjenek 10 for Antioch.

Against Warren, Antioch was going up against a team which had beaten the Sequoits by just three points in round one.

Antioch stayed with Warren early, trailing 12-9 after one. A basket by Scott Gooch tied the contest at 18-18 with 4:10 left in the second quarter.

That's when the host Blue Devils really took charge.

Antioch was held scoreless the remainder of the quarter as Warren led 32-18 at halftime. Contributing to the 14-0 run were Jarrell with seven points, James Siwek with six and Matt Lingenfelter with one.

Environmentalists Launch Phase Two Of Campaign

CLEAR (Citizens of Lake County for Environmental Action Reform) announce the inauguration of phase two of their fundraising program. Its purpose is to continue to represent Lake County citizens at the Waste Management dump and incinerator hearings.

Phase One consisted primarily of private citizen contributions gained through door-to-door campaigning. The success of the first phase contributed to CLEAR's efforts to represent concerned citizens before the county board, which recently heard the evidence concerning the ARF dump in Grayslake.

The successful presentation of witnesses and testimony in that hearing was a direct result of the involvement of CLEAR members who gathered information which brought to light certain here-to-for unknown facts about the history of the site. The facts include a pre-existing dump (Edco) which took in hazardous wastes, which are now leaking out of the landfill.

Further information was revealed concerning unacceptable entrances for the site on a two-lane road in the area (Harris Rd.), and the fact that there would be a minimum of 52,000 truck trips per year of garbage to that site.

Phase two will consist of a multi-pronged approach to the entire Lake County area which surrounds the ARF and Waste Management sites. (This is the land bounded by Rte. 137 and Peterson Rd., and Rte. 83 and Harris Rd.) It will involve letter and personal contacts with those whose business interests have been supported by CLEAR funds; real estate offices, land developers, banks, savings and loan associations, health-related businesses, nurseries, corporate offices, and local small businesses.

The present goal of $100,000 will be used to support the testimony and legal counsel for the current hearings on the siting of a dump and incinerator on 160 acres by Waste Management, a world-wide corporation.

Dentist Tells Kids Prevention Is Key

Gurnee Park Dist. pre-school children learned how to care for their teeth during a visit from Dr. Anthony Markiewicz, a local dentist.

"Prevention is the key. Not only can we reduce cavities through proper home care and professional preventive treatments, but we can also reduce the length and cost of orthodontic treatment when bite problems are caught early," Dr. Markiewicz said. Markiewicz said that getting youngsters early also helps their attitude toward going to the dentist. He said he especially likes working with youngsters. "It's an opportunity for children to have fun and develop positive images of dentists," the Waukegan dentist said.

February is national dental health care month for children.

Markiewicz will speak at the Gurnee Park Dist. senior luncheon Feb. 27.

Notes & News

February is the shortest month of the year, but it sure seems to have sped by this year. Usually we would be grateful for that; February can be one of the dreariest months of the year, with "cabin fever" a distinct nuisance.

However, this year has been better than most. Again, the snow has gone elsewhere! March is on the horizon, and spring can't be far behind. However, we've had some "giant" snowstorms in April...

Come April, and it's nearly baseball season. Parents! You have only one more weekend to register your children for Antioch Youth Baseball. There are five through eight. Thereafter, the girls play "fast pitch" softball while the boys play baseball (hardball).

Registration will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 27, and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 28, at the Scout House, 741 Main St., Antioch. Remember, first-time participants need to provide a copy of their birth certificate.

Can An Oven Timer Earn Your Trust?

by GLORIA DAVIS

According to Mr. Webster, having trust in someone or something is "having confidence and hope in that someone's or something's reliability."

I used to tell my kids that "trust did not come automatically with love, it had to be earned."

If this is true, then tell me how the manufacturers of these products with a brain, that depend upon your trust in these "brains" in the use of said products, can on and off at odd times in case he wasn't home, a burglar-discouraging ploy. He also had his stereo and tv set on timers for the same reason.

His coffeemaker and microwave were set to practically cook breakfast while he was in the shower and all that good stuff.

It seems he also used this device to get rid of an unwanted alcoholic roommate whom he neglected to tell about the timers. The guy was so spooked by lights and televisions going on and off at odd times, especially expect a person to just accept mechanical and electronic promises on their say so, paying extra for them to boot.

Call me "old fashioned," say I'm antiquated. I'm the type that buys a car that has an automatic headlight switch and has to stand there and stare at those automatic headlights until they go off.

OK, OK, so it worked yesterday. What's my guarantee that tonight there won't be a malfunction? Those lights could blaze all night and tomorrow morning I'll be stuck with a dead battery.

The same feeling must have been prevalent when I owned an oven with a timer for 10 years and never once used it. I had the fear that I'd arrive home to a burnt dinner, a burned down house or, at best, a raw chicken because the oven forgot to turn itself on.

As far as depending on an alarm clock to get you out of bed, I've got one that bears the most reliable label of all, "Husband." If I don't get up the first five times he calls me (and I don't), he simply rolls me out of bed. Now where can you buy a digital contraption that will do that without getting into robotics?

One of the few times old reliable wasn't around and I was at the mercy of those digitals, the electricity had gone off for a few seconds and I awoke an hour late to flashing numerals and panic.

My son bought one of those devices that puts the entire house on timers and installed it in his apartment. He had lights that went when my son pretended not to notice, that he moved out.

When it comes to trusting your children, the rule is, "as long as they're home and under your jurisdiction, don't!"

Now you don't necessarily have to let them know that you are watching every move they make and double checking on them. Here is where a little finesse comes in handy.

Remember, even experts turn thumbs down on that all too common parental saying, "I know my child would never do that." Bite your tongue!

It's hard for parents of adult children to make the transition to the fact that the kid who couldn't take the garbage out without strewing a trail of trash from house to garbage can is supervising 10 restaurants and responsible for millions of dollars in cash flow. Some parents never do.

I'm a grandmother and last Thanksgiving when I offered to cook the turkey, my mother (who has eaten hundreds of meals at my house) was leary all the way up to the time she had to confess that my dressing was better than hers.

Yet she never has had qualms about trusting the culinary talents of her daughters-in-law, but then she identifies with them as wives and mothers and not the naughty little girl who gave her heart attacks when she kept climbing on the roof of a two-story garage to eat her lunch.

Shades of Eric Segal, "Blind trust means constantly having to feel sorry."

Antioch Tire Continues To Roll With The Changes

by MARK BENNO

Tony LaVelle, enthusiastic owner of Antioch Tire Inc., feels that his business has grown to serve both Antioch and the surrounding with a lot of help from the town.

"I feel I'm in the heart of Antioch," said LaVelle. "The location turned out to be better than I thought."

LaVelle purchased Antioch Tire Inc. 10 years ago in 1977, and the company's success and expansion has been dramatic. When LaVelle bought the business, it was a Firestone dealership.

Antioch Tire continues to sell Firestones, said LaVelle, but that's where the comparison between his store and the former one ends. Today, his business features a variety of tire brands, and an assortment of the most advanced electronic testing equipment.

Dealing with customers has never been a problem for the energetic LaVelle, who also credits manager Rich Stein for much of the company's success. In fact, customer satisfaction is the top priority for both men.

LaVelle also opened two more stores in his expansion drive. In 1985, another Antioch Tire opened up in town, and in April of 1986 he began a store in Elk Grove.

In the 1980's, telephones on wheels became widespread, and, in keeping with LaVelle's desire to keep up with whatever's on wheels, Antioch Tire Inc. has also moved into the cellular phone market.

All of these services combine to make Antioch Tire Inc. a business typical of the village of Antioch. In a town that had more potential than he had at first anticipated, LaVelle intends to continue expanding in the Antioch area.

He also plans to grow into other communities, like Elk Grove, which are located further away from Antioch. It's a fair guess, though, that this young entrepreneur will continue to roll with the changes wherever he goes.

Allendale Explains Its Foster Care Services

A child's family should provide the care and attention that children need to grow up normally in today's world. Unfortunately, many children are not able to live with their own family or relatives. They need concerned people who can provide guidance, discipline, and lots of love to serve as foster parents.

Allendale, a residential treatment facility for boys and girls, located in Lake Villa, is searching for five good homes to add to their existing foster care program.

Allendale provides youth from the ages of eight to 18 with a structured group living experience as well as individual programs, special schooling and counseling to assist each youth with their problems.

Once they demonstrate they are ready, they are eligible to begin visiting their family on weekends. Although some youth are ready to return home, their families, for a variety of reasons, are not ready or able to have them.

Other resources must be found to prevent the children from staying at Allendale longer than necessary or desirable. The Foster Care Program makes it possible for a youngster to live in the community with a family as soon as he is ready, either on a permanent basis or until things are ready for him to live with his own family.

Most foster families begin as visiting resource homes, families that have a youth visiting on weekends, once or twice a month.

The family and youth are matched by interests and backgrounds and boys are selected based on their behavior and their need for a place to visit. This relationship may in some cases grow into a foster home for the child, although this is not always the case.

Some families decide that remaining a visiting resource family is what they can best offer. Those that do become foster homes have had a good chance to develop a positive relationship with the foster child before he ever comes to live with them.

In addition to a careful screening and matching process, the foster family receives supportive services from Allendale. This begins by orienting and training the family to deal with the specialized needs of these foster children.

A foster care worker is assigned to work with the youngster, the foster parents, and the youth's natural family.

Meetings are also held every three months to review the child's progress and determine how Allendale and the foster parents can best serve the child and the family. Ongoing training, education, and support are provided to the foster parents through Allendale's Foster Parent Organization.

Allendale feels its team approach, as well as the small size of the program makes them unique in the foster care field. Their foster parents have gained a great deal of satisfaction knowing they have helped a child who must live away from his own home. The need for foster homes is growing.

Anyone who is interested in learning more about the Foster Care/Visiting Resource Program can contact Dan Foster at (312) 356-5557.

' Devils, Sequoits Seasons End In Sectional Openers

Odds were against Warren and Antioch's girls basketball teams from advancing to the sectional final at Round Lake.

Chalk one up for the odds. Both the Blue Devils and the Sequoits more than met their respective matches at Round Lake. Antioch, the Grayslake regional winner, was upended by Libertyville 57-50 and Warren lost to Cary-Grove 67-48. The Wildcats and the Trojans came into sectional action with a combined 50-4 record.

Despite the end of the girls season, both Warren coach Bruce Campbell and Antioch coach Harold Abramson can consider the seasons successful. "I'm very happy for the girls. They worked hard all season and played hard. I'm not depressed. We gave it our best shot against a very good team," Campbell said.

Poor starts hurt both teams. Libertyville led the Sequoits by 18 at halftime. Warren trailed Cary by 12 points at intermission.

"I have no idea what the problem was in the first half. We usually don't shoot that poorly," Abramson said.

Libertyville led 34-18 at halftime. Cindy and Chris Geib proved too much for Antioch,

OVERTIME

By Steve Peterson

scoring 18 and 13 points, respectively.

Libertyville, using a strong inside game, led 43-30 at halftime but the Sequoits began to show life. Julie Sexton scored eight points in the third period after scoring two in the second half.

Antioch put on a mad rush in the fourth quarter, capitalizing on poor free throw shooting by Libertyville and turnovers. Antioch scored 20 points in the quarter, but that was not enough.

Julie Sexton and Tara Farnsworth scored 16 points each for the Sequoits.

The game proved that Libertyville, at least for now, has Antioch's number. Antioch has been in the sectional for five straight years - losing to the Wildcats three times.

Warren, meanwhile came into the sectional after its first-ever regional championship. The Blue Devils have had several obstacles this year: playing and practicing in a grade school gym, the commuting from Lake Forest and earning some respect outside of Lake County. For example, Warren was called "Gurnee" in one newspaper; Terri Ingalls was referred to as "Laura" in one instance and Warren was referred to as a team with five straight sectional appearances.

Cary-Grove proved to Warren and all watching that it is not just a one-player (Amy Arrigo) show.

Arrigo finished with 14 points, eight in the first quarter.

Warren trailed 32-20 at halftime and Arrigo scored the first basket of the second half for a 14-point lead.

Tiffany Holmes then started Warren on a run that would eventually pull the Devils to within four.

A 15-footer by Ingalls and another outside jumper by Cobb made it 34-30 Cary with just over four minutes left. Warren fans, long silenced since the start of the game, had reason to cheer.

But not for very long.

The Trojans turned their efforts up a notch, outscoring Warren 11-2 for the next three minutes, building up a 47-37 lead after three.

The lead quickly reached 15 points in the first three minutes of the final quarter.

Eve Barry hurt Warren inside with 22 points.

Cobb, Warren's leading scorer this season, finished with 17 points. Ingalls had 13.

Grayslake, Round Lake Clash In First Of Two Battles

Within the next five days, Grayslake and Round Lake will play each other two times.

That much is certain going into the regular-season finale Feb. 27 at Round Lake. And as far as Grayslake coach Greg Groth is concerned, the first contest and the contest in the Grant regional give the Rams a chance for revenge.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. for the first of the two games.

"We feel we owe them one," Groth said, referring to his team's close 45-44 loss in round one of league play.

Grayslake will be coming into the finale with an 8-14 record, 4-9 in the Northwest Suburban Conference. Grayslake is coming off a 49-41 home win over Johnsburg while Round Lake stubbed its toe at Marian Central, losing 69-58. The loss dropped the Panthers to 13-10 overall, 6-7 in the NWSC.

"We'll have to slow Bills (Jim) down. I don't think you can stop him, but you have to try and slow him down," Groth said.

"I just think we have to continue to improve offensively. Last time I was not pleased with the way we played offensively against them. They're a good ballclub and we will have to play our best," Round Lake coach Bob Ward said.

Against Johnsburg, Grayslake recovered from a slow start in the first half, managing just an 18-17 lead at halftime.

"We came out sluggish in the first quarter. We were a little tight. It was parents' night and we had a big crowd," Groth said.

Grayslake benefitted from a full lineup for the first time in 10 games. Ray Magiera returned to the Rams lineup after sitting out the last month with an injury. Groth said that depth helped the Rams.

Butch LeNoir led the Grayslake attack with 16 points and six assists and drew praise from Groth.

"Butch has been playing pretty well the last month," the coach said.

Also helping the Grayslake cause were eight points in the first half from Pete LuPori, who finished with 10 and Mike Langer. Langer scored nine of his 15 points in the fourth quarter.

Grayslake made 13 of 22 free-throws for the game, but made them when it counted, canning eight-of-11 in the final quarter.

A poor start doomed Round Lake at Marian Central.

"We just did not play very good in the first half. They were ready and we weren't," Ward said.

Round Lake trailed 19-11 after one and 35-23 at halftime. Round Lake recovered to win the third quarter 20-13, but Marian answered each of the Panthers' fourth-quarter challenges.

Bills led Round Lake with 15 points.

Earlier in the week, Round

Lake's offense was clicking against Johnsburg. Brian Richardson pumped home 20 points to add to Bills' 27 as the Panthers clubbed the Skyhawks 69-42.

Round Lake led 15-7 after one and never looked back. Grayslake, meanwhile, was giving Marengo all it could handle for three quarters. But the Indians took charge in the fourth, winning the stanza 21-10 to post a 44-36 win at Grayslake.

Andrew Flood had 12 and Langer 10 for Grayslake.

Runners Ready For Race

Lake County runners can take advantage of unseasonably warm weather and at the same time sharpen their skills for a 5-K race.

The city of Waukegan is sponsoring a 5-K race April 5. The race will begin at 9 a.m. with finishing and starting points at Midlane Country Club, 14565 W. Yorkhouse Rd. in Waukegan.

A 5-K walk is also being offered.

Age groups are 13 and under, 14-19, 20-30, 31-40, 41-50 and 51 and over.

The $6 entry fee includes a t-shirt.

All proceeds will go to the Waukegan Teenage Youth Center.

CLC Men End Regular Season By Defeating Two Opponents

The College of Lake County men got back on the winning track last week, defeating Oakton and Kennedy King.

CLC's basketball team concluded its Skyway Conference play by handing Oakton a 90-62 drubbing. The Lancers were never in any doubt of losing the contest, as they jumped out by as many as 14 points in the early going and extended the lead as the game progressed. Everyone played in the final regular season home game and better yet, everyone scored for Lake County.

Terry Wright pumped in 18 points, Mark Kohl 12 and Todd Gordon, Dave Sitz and Domonique Davis led a trio with 10 apiece.

The Lady Lancers, performing in their last home game, lost a narrow 48-44 decision to the visiting Raiders. The Lancers trailed 24-16 at intermission, and made several runs in the second half, but that was not enough as Oakton held on for a four-point win.

"Our defense performed well, but we didn't shoot the ball too well," head coach Chuck Schramm said.

Karen Hermann paced CLC with 16 points, while Kelly Halkyard added 12 and JoAnne Hangebrauck eight.

Saturday, the two teams split a pair of games when they traveled to Kennedy King. The men came up with an 84-77 win, finishing the regular season at 18-12. The Lancers held a 46-37 halftime lead and survived a few late runs put on by the hosts, eventually winning by seven.

Tucker and Wright had solid performances, popping in 26 and 22 points, respectively. Dave Sitz had 11 for the Lancers, who finished in a tie for second with Elgin in Skyway competition.

The Lady Lancers did not fare as well on Saturday, suffering a 90-24 defeat.

Hermann led CLC in scoring. The Lancers finished with a 12-13 record, 10-4 in Skyway Conference play, good enough for second place.

Carmel Hopes Season Ends On A Bright Note

Carmel's basketball team will be hoping to end the regular season on a bright note when the Corsairs travel to Holy Cross Feb. 27.

"They played us real tough at our place. We are going to have to get a good start and build momentum," Carmel coach Frank Belmont said.

The Corsairs, now 15-9 overall and 9-4 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference, are coming off a weekend when they split two games but Belmont came away happy.

"I thought it was a productive weekend," the coach said.

Carmel opened with a tough 49-45 loss to St. Joseph but recovered to win the non-conference "battle of the Carmels" with a 54-50 victory.

The Corsairs played well in the fourth quarter of both games.

Against St. Joseph, Carmel had cut a seven-point lead in the final seconds but could not get the clutch bucket to drop.

Carmel trailed St. Joseph 18-7 after one but recovered to trail the hosts lead to five at halftime.

"We had a bad start, but we caught them with four minutes left in the second quarter," Belmont said.

St. Joseph won an evenly played third quarter 11-10. A bad spurt at the start of the final quarter cost Carmel, Belmont said.

"At the start of the fourth quarter, they increased their lead from two to seven. They're an awful difficult team to catch-up on because of their quickness," Belmont said.

Rob Graham had 17 points for Carmel to lead the way. Scott Stahoviak had 12 and John Welling 11.

Belmont said the way his team played against St. Joseph should bode well for the playoffs.

"We showed with the St. Joseph's game that we can play with outstanding teams," Belmont said.

Carmel's efforts were not as smooth against Mt. Carmel, though.

"We were a little sluggish through the first three quarters," Belmont said.

Carmel trimmed a seven-point Mt. Carmel lead to one entering the fourth quarter. Aubrey O'Bryant then hit three straight jump shots to start the final quarter to give the hosts a lead.

Carmel was led in scoring by Graham's 19 points. Stahoviak had 14 and Welling 10.

VIDEO SCENE

Talking Heads look good enough to eat — literally

By Barton Weiss

Everyone knows that videos are basically commercials for songs, but the new Talking Heads video, "Love for Sale," takes commercialism one step further. In three short minutes, it includes snippets from about 100 commercials.

David Byrne

A few shots from top Head David Byrne's movie "True Stories" are intercut with the spots, but since the version of the song in the video is different from the version in the film, references to the film are minimal.

The bulk of the clip compares the Heads to commercial objects by intercutting shots of the Heads in positions that duplicate the positions of products in the snippets from commercials.

Then, out of nowhere, chocolate cascades on the band as if band members were Peter Paul Almond Joys. The Heads are wrapped in colored foil, and the foil is stripped back to reveal chocolate heads. Then the heads are eaten, of course.

Is the band saying that they are only hollow objects prepackaged for the market like food? Could be. But it probably has more to do with all the media attention (including the cover of Time magazine) that Byrne received when the film opened.

This world is rough

Life is hard, and Timbuk 3, the two-piece band from Austin, Texas, knows it. They've been on an exhaustive tour of the country. In each town, they sign autographs and play in record stores during the day — then do their show at night.

The band's second video, "Life Is Hard," shows us the even harder life of playing on the empty streets, something the band has encountered.

The whole video is one very long shot that includes close-ups and wide shots of the band, their instruments, bugs on the street and a crowd.

Less glitz, more quality

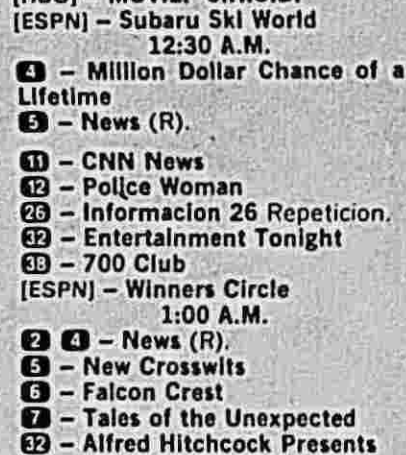

Duran Duran, the pretty blond boys of the video age, have had some togetherness problems of late, and it shows in their new clip, "Slim Trade." Up until the very end of the clip, in fact, there are no shots that include all band members in the same frame.

The clip, which is filled with some nice high-contrast black-and-white and solid-colored shots, is not as flashy as the Double D's have been in the past, but musically, this is one of their best.

FAME

Lynne Griffin's unusual look in 'I'll Take Manhattan'

By Lynn Hoogenboom

Like every other actress, Lynne Griffin is used to being made up to look her best. So working on "I'll Take Manhattan" was a very different experience.

Lynne Griffin

She plays Candice Alexander, the drab, unhappy wife of Cutter Amberville (Perry King) in CBS's elaborate eight-hour miniseries (which airs Sunday through Wednesday, March 1-4), and instead of being made up, she was "made down."

But playing an unattractive character had its compensations. "It's a huge responsibility to try to play somebody glamorous," she says. "You've got to go to bed early, you've got to eat right, and you're always worried that you have bags under your eyes. This role was great, because it allowed me the luxury of really letting everything hang out."

It was a little rougher on her husband, cinematographer Steven Poster, who served as director of photography on "I'll Take Manhattan." "We met on a picture where he was making me look gorgeous every day, which is why I married him," says Griffin. "His first day on the set, we shot a scene where I was in a bar and was belting back martinis. He found it very very difficult to photograph me. He said, 'You look so bad. No matter how I light you, you've got these horrible shadows.'"

Most of Griffin's previous acting experience has been in the classical theater, but she claims that Judith Krantz isn't really a comedown. "I was very impressed by the actability of 'I'll Take Manhattan,'" she says. "It's very simple, very direct. It's completely different from the complexity of playing Shakespeare, but basically what you're trying to do is communicate a real thought, a real experience for that character. And Judith Krantz has an amazing reputation on television. She is highly, highly watched."

Griffin, now 34, started acting and modeling as a child in Canada. "I was always working professionally," she recalls. "I don't have any regrets, but I certainly wouldn't recommend it. There are a lot of parents who really push their child when the child doesn't really want to do it."

In her own case, however, it was a different story. "I think actors are born," she concludes. "And no matter what you would have told me, I wouldn't have done anything else."

Potatoes Can Be Diet Or Fat Food

by GLORIA DAVIS

February is National Potatoe Month and now that the erstwhile potatoe has moved from the classification of fat food to the good nutrition column, we can look at it as a staple food without any conscience qualms.

For years potatoe lovers have suffered the same attacks of guilt that sweets and pastry addicts endured when partaking of their favorite dish because those defenseless little 'taters were considered a caloric luxury.

Now nutritionists claim that the potatoe itself is not only full of vitamins and an excellent fiber source, but a medium size potatoe has only 110 calories, is low in sodium and has little fat and cholesterol content.

The danger seems to be in the usual potatoe toppings and the other ingredients that garnish potatoe recipes. All this is music to the ears of potatoe lovers and the following easy, low-cal, nutritious potatoe recipe follows on this happy note.

LOW-CAL BAKED POTATOE CASSEROLE

6-8 medium size potatoes
1 stick low-cal margarine
salt-pepper

Scrub potatoes, cut into 1-inch chunks (with skins on). Place in glass baking dish, pour 1/2 cup of water on top. Salt and pepper to taste add margarine in chunks and toss to mix. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven for one hour, mixing once during baking time. (microwaving time ranges from 20 to 30 minutes.) Serves four to six people. Each serving has about 115 calories.

Potatoes harmonize with beef, chicken, fish, lamb and pork. They can be served boiled, baked, steamed, mashed and French fried.

For those that are calorie conscious but not on a weight loss program, GREEK ISLAND MASHED POTATOES bring a new taste to any meal.

On the hit parade of potatoe favorites, for those skinny Minnys or for those people that just love eating and throw all caloric caution to the wind, we have an Italian style potatoe recipe.

ZESTY PIZZA POTATOES

4 large potatoes
8 ounces shredded Mozzarella, Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese (about 2 1/2 cups lightly packed.)
4 green onions
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon basil
2 medium tomatoes, sliced
1/2 pound pre-cooked Italian sausage, in 1/2 inch slices.
Parmesan cheese

Bake potatoes at 450 degrees until fork tender (50 to 60 minutes) In a small bowl, toss cheese with onion, oregano and basil. Slice cooked potatoes in half length-wise, place cut sides up in baking dish. Sprinkle with half of the cheese mixture. Top with tomatoes and sausage, then with remaining cheese mixture. Bake at 450 degrees for eight to 10 minutes or until golden brown. Serve topped with Parmesan cheese. (Makes four main servings at 681 calories each.)

GREEK ISLAND MASHED POTATOES

1 1/2 cups unflavored yogurt
1 1/2 teaspoons oregano
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 large garlic clove (pressed)
3 cups unseasoned mashed potatoes (about 1 1/2 pounds of fresh potatoes mashed)
1/2 cup crumbled feta cheese
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

In a large bowl, combine yogurt, oregano, salt, pepper and garlic. Mix to blend thoroughly. Fold in potatoes to blend thoroughly. Mix in cheese and spoon into greased shallow 1 to 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Dust with paprika and bake in 375 degree oven for 20 minutes or until heated through and top is lightly browned. Serve hot, dalloped with additional yogurt. (Serves four to six people). Each serving is approximately 200 calories.

Humuhumu

It's now of-FISH-all! Hawaii has chosen its state fish. Ranger Rick magazine reports that the Humuhumu won the most votes after an election rally at the Waikiki Aquarium. A figure in early Hawaiian legends, the Humuhumu is known for its strategy of swimming into a small crack and using a special spine to lock itself in place, preventing other fish from extracting and eating it. The Humuhumu will serve as state fish for five years, after which it must run for re-election.

Victory Offers Health Programs For Everyone

These days, the word healthy may have many implications—being in good physical condition, eating right, avoiding stress and being knowledgeable about proper medical care. Good health—feeling good—is no longer viewed as a matter of mere good luck. Most Americans believe, or are coming to believe, that it is a matter they have some control over.

Victory Health Outreach Center, 121 E. Grand Ave., Lake Villa, has responded to this increased awareness with a wide variety of health related issues, such as health care, preventative measures, fitness and nutrition. Every Monday from 8 a.m. until noon, the center offers free blood pressure screening, and the second Monday of each month from 8 until 10 a.m. "Accu-chek" blood sugar screening is done. Monthly health education programs are offered on nutrition, arthritis, heart disease—to name just a few.

In cooperation with the YMCA Feelin' Fit organization, fitness programs to meet individual needs are offered. A well rounded fitness program includes exercise for flexibility, muscular strength, endurance, and cardiovascular conditioning. Different levels of exercise along with specialty programs to fit the needs of almost everyone are offered. Aerobic Dance, offered Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9 a.m., provides the more active, fitness oriented person, a chance to exercise at a faster pace—men and women alike.

Low Impact Aerobics, offered Tuesday and Thursday evenings are for those who are more sedentary or haven't exercised in a few years. This class is directed at keeping muscles toned and maintaining minimal cardiac endurance. Along with this class, D.I.E.T. eX. (Developing Intelligent Eating Techniques and eXercise) is offered. This is a program of weekly nutritional support and behavior modifications along with an individual diet instruction. (D.I.E.T.eX. boasts a weight loss total of over 400 pounds.)

Moms-To-Be Fit class is offered weekly with an RN available for consultation regarding anticipation and concerns about pregnancy. This class will be held if there's enough participation.

Senior P.E.P. (Physical Exercise Pays) is offered at Cedar Village Apartments, Lake Villa; Cedar Villa's Apartments, Round Lake Beach; and the Grayslake Park Dist. This is an exercise program specifically designed for men and women over 50.

On the third Tuesday of each month, Jacob Blumberg Memorial Blood Bank is at the Outreach Center at 6 p.m., to make it more convenient for blood donations.

Victory Adult Day Care has been open since August, giving frail adults in need of socialization, stimulation, and health services, a place to come when other existing services are not feasible.

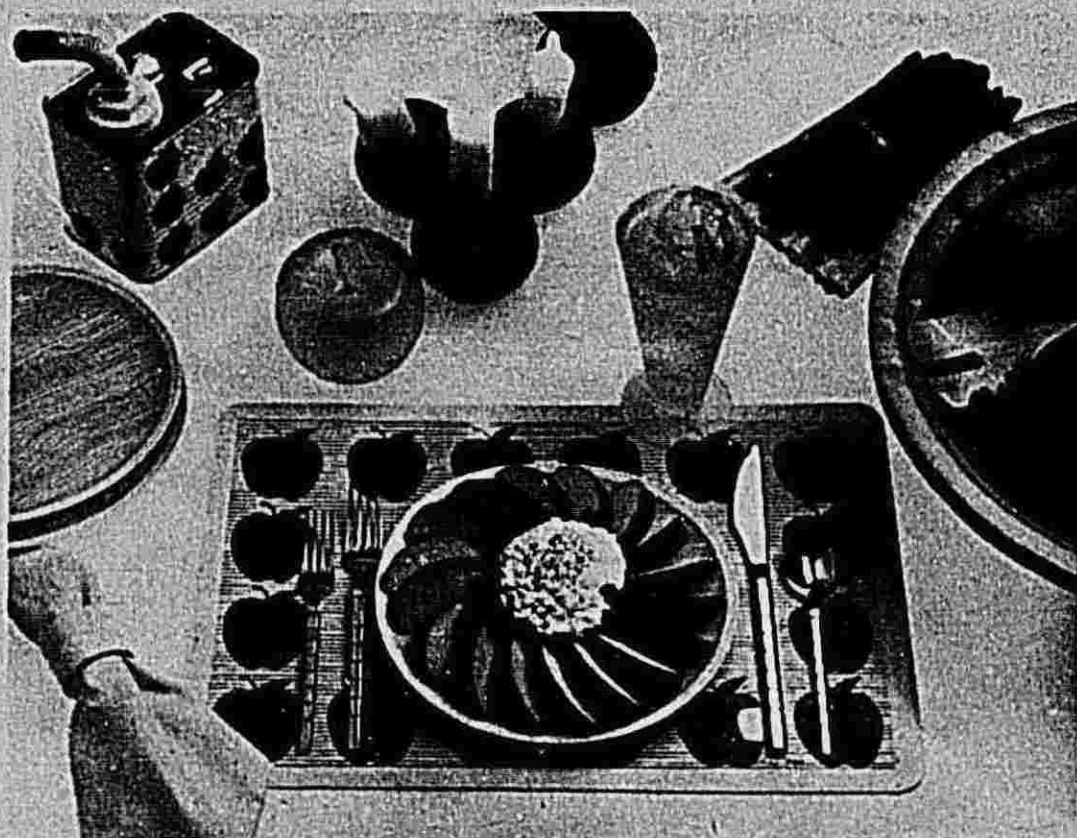

Emphasis is placed on the person's strengths and abilities rather than impairments and limitations. It also provides relief for the caregivers. Adult Day Care can offer older people the choice of remaining at home.

and continuing their relationships with family and community rather than nursing home placement. It is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Rounding out the schedule of programs are the Childbirth With Joy classes, which focus on preparing the expectant mother and her support person for labor and delivery and early postpartum.

"Smokeless" is a total lifestyle approach to smoking cessation that consists of behavior modification, stress management, life-coping skills and weight control. This is offered four times per year.

For more information or to register for any of these programs, call (312) 356-5900.

The Fitness Table

Less can be more, suggests Jewelry Industry Council, when you combine good food with enticing table setting. In this designer-oriented table setting, plates are by Jack Lenor Larsen for Mikasa, placemat and tin serving can by Edgar Watkins, asparagus plate by Barbara Eigen, glasses and crystal apple by Sasaki, flatware by Retroneu, and salad bowl and servers by Vietri.

How To Cope With Emergency

He was just sliding into home plate; she was just trying a new routine on the trampoline. But they both came up with one fewer tooth.

When a child's tooth is knocked out, it's important for parents to be familiar with some dental first aid tips, advises the American Dental Assn.

For a knocked-out tooth, gently rinse the tooth in cold water, but do not scrub it. When possible, put the tooth back into its socket and hold it in place.

If this cannot be done, put the tooth in a cup of milk or water, or wrap it in a wet cloth and get to the dentist immediately.

"In many cases, teeth that are replaced in the mouth within 30 minutes after injury reattach themselves to the jaw and function normally," said Jean Campbell, DDS, practicing dentist and consumer advisor for the ADA.

"The first and most important lesson on dental emergencies is to see a dentist as soon as possible," Dr. Campbell said.

Toothache. Rinse the mouth vigorously with warm water to clean out debris. Use dental floss to remove any food that might be trapped within the cavity or between teeth. If there is swelling, place cold compresses on the outside of the cheek; do not use heat.

Broken Tooth. Try to clean debris from the injured area with warm water. Place cold compresses on the face next to the injured tooth to minimize swelling.

Something wedged between teeth. Carefully try to remove it with dental floss. Do not try to remove with sharp or pointed objects.

Fractured jaw. Immobilize the jaw by any means—handkerchief, towel—and go to the hospital emergency room.

Contact Wearers Require Special Makeup Choices

Many women consider their eyes their most important feature and thus more than 14 million of them wear contact lenses. Most of these women also wear makeup, including eye makeup, and must be aware of some special considerations in makeup selection and application.

"Women who wear contact lenses may have irritation problems from using conventional makeup improperly," says Jane Baldwin, senior professional consultant for Barnes-Hind. "If makeup gets on your lenses, it could be a problem for eyes and lenses alike."

For this reason, Barnes-Hind, which manufactures Hydrocurve II soft contact lenses and Soft Mate contact lens solutions, has just introduced a new line of eye makeup specifically for contact lens wearers. Soft Mate mascara and Soft Mate Eye Makeup Remover were tested by eye care specialists with all types of contact lenses.

"Some conventional eye cosmetics can be quite irritating to lens wearers, since they may contain harsh preservatives, fibers and oils that may soil the lenses," Baldwin says.

Soft Mate mascara contains no harsh preservatives or oils, is flake-proof, water resistant and smudge-proof. It is currently available in black and brown.

The Soft Mate Eye

Makeup Remover solution is mild and free of oil, fragrance and irritants. In addition, the formula contains no mercurial preservatives like thimerosal which can be particularly irritating to eyes of contact lens wearers.

A specialist in contact lens education, Baldwin has counseled thousands of women on the proper fit and care of contact lenses.

She worked with Barnes-Hind to help them develop formulas that meet the needs of these women, and she has developed makeup guidelines that should be gospel for contact lens wearers—and good advice for any woman with sensitive eyes. Baldwin's guidelines are as follows:

—Always wash hands with oil-free, fragrance-free soap before removing or inserting contact lenses.

—Apply all cosmetics after lenses are inserted.

—Avoid using oily products that can soil lenses on or near the eye.

—Use a mascara specifically formulated and tested for contact lens wearers and sensitive eyes.

—Avoid application of eyeliner or mascara on the inner margins of eyelids.

—Avoid direct contact with aerosols, such as hairspray, fragrances or deodorants. Close eyes first before using these products with lenses in.

—Avoid use of nail polish, remover or other solutions until after lenses are inserted.

—Remove lenses prior to removing eye makeup. Use an oil-free fragrance-free, hypoallergenic remover, such as Soft Mate Eye Makeup Remover. Use a lint-free pad or tissue. Keep eyes closed firmly during makeup removal.

—Extended lens wearers should exercise caution to minimize contact of eye makeup or remover onto the lens surface.

—If any cosmetics get on contact lenses, remove them immediately and clean them with an intensive cleaner.

—Consult an eye care practitioner if any redness, swelling, pain or irritation occurs.

—If the eyes tend to be sensitive, use thimerosal-free contact lens solutions, such as the Soft Mate Specially Formulated formula.

ADD A BIT OF HUMOR to the everyday bathing experience while renewing, refreshing and rejuvenating skin for the summer.

Walking Requires Proper Footwear

Fitness is not a pursuit exclusive to the young. Men and women of all ages can enjoy the benefits of a regular exercise program.

Keeping fit can be fun and simple. By walking at a brisk pace for a half-hour three times a week, a person may improve his or her cardiovascular system while toning and shaping the body's muscles.

The nice part about walking is that it can fit into anyone's lifestyle. No special skills or equipment are required. In fact, the only necessities are comfortable clothing and proper footwear.

According to buyer Chuck Vanderpool of Kinney Shoes, which carries the Stadia line of athletic footwear, a good walking shoe should be made of a soft lightweight material, such as leather.

"Flexible, supple footwear is important when you walk, especially when you walk vigorously for fitness," he says. "Also, you want something lightweight for easier movement."

Another important feature is breathability, which helps feet remain cool and dry. A shoe should fit comfortably on all parts of the foot, and extra support should be found in the heel and arch areas.

Keeping these facts in mind, a walker can enjoy the sport with virtually no injuries since walking puts less pressure on joints than do most other aerobic activities.

Beginners should remember to walk at a relaxed pace and gradually build to a quicker one to assure maximum cardiovascular benefits, which can lead to a longer and healthier life.

'Natural' Preservative Found In Common Spice

Many natural foods naturally go bad. Add BHT, BHA and other synthetic preservatives and you can extend the shelf life, but the product no longer has the highly marketable label, "natural." Now, according to Dr. Chi-

Tang Ho of Rutgers University, there's a new way to keep the food fresh and keep it "natural" at the same time. He told a meeting of the American Chemical Society recently that he and his colleagues have found natural substitutes for these important additives in the common spice rosemary.

"BHT, BHA and other additives are antioxidants which act as preservatives in cereals and other foods," said Dr. Stephen Chang, who directed the research. "Now people have known for centuries that spices can also preserve food, but spices have strong odors and flavors. You wouldn't want to eat rosemary-flavored corn flakes."

According to Dr. Chang, some people have tried to solve this problem by extracting the natural antioxidants of rosemary. "This is the right idea," he said, "but unfortunately these attempts were not accompanied by enough knowledge of food chemistry. The extracts currently being sold to producers of 'natural foods' as antioxidants have a strong rosemary odor and a bitter taste."

Dr. Chang subjected rosemary to chemical analysis and identified a number of the natural rosemary chemicals responsible for its antioxidant activity. Using that knowledge, he was able to develop a patented method that first extracts the desired compounds, then distills away the rosemary smell and taste.

"The activity of our extract is equal to or better than BHT, which is the best synthetic antioxidant," Dr. Chang said. "Our costs are about three times as high, but since the extremely small amounts are used in products, this should not affect the consumer."

Dr. Chang said that besides cereal, his rosemary extract can be used to help preserve prepared meats, such as sausage, plus citrus oils and snack foods. He says that the food industry is very enthusiastic about his work and he has been contacted by a number of major producers.

Athletic Footwear Must Be Activity-Appropriate

This is the age of specialization and nowhere is this more evident than in the athletic footwear industry. A visit to the local sporting goods store will verify this, and if the shopper goes in asking for a pair of "sneakers," he or she has not done thier homework.

According to a spokesperson for Adidas, most consumers are interested in one of two basic types of athletic shoes—running or court.

Court shoes include basketball and tennis shoes plus footwear for volleyball, racquetball, etc. An offshoot of the court shoe category includes aerobic shoes for women and workout shoes for men.

Different sports require different types of footwear. If the shoes selected do not match the sport played, there is an increased risk of injury.

Running shoes are designed for forward motion only, and should not be worn for court sports which require lateral, stop-and-go and jumping movements.

Most runners have a biomechanical defect in their running gait which requires a motion control shoe such as the adidas ZX 600. The ZX 600 offers runners the ideal combination of stability, flexibility and cushioning.

According to the adidas spokesperson, it is advisable to buy tennis shoes a half-size larger than your street shoes. This is because the foot needs room to slide when playing tennis.

The Court Order from Adidas is a moderately priced tennis shoe featuring a dual density polyurethane midsole/outsole. Polyurethane is being used more and more in athletic footwear because of its ability to absorb shock and provide support over a longer period of time.

Consumers are looking for fashion in aerobic and workout shoes but should not forget about function. The Workout II from Adidas offers both fashion and an EVA midsole with rubber shell sole for cushioning, stability and excellent traction on a variety of surfaces.

Roosevelt Names Six To Deans List

Four area students have been named to the Dean's List at Roosevelt University in Chicago for the fall 1986 semester. They are Patrick Klemens, Grayslake; Barbara Taylor, Lake Villa;

William Sparkman and Patricia Hansen of Lindenhurst. Students on the Dean's List have maintained at least a 3.50 grade point average on a four-point scale.

Dress For Exercise Success

Comfort is the key for choosing the appropriate clothing for stay-fit activities. At left, a pure cotton top from Gazelle features accentuated armholes for unrestricted movement, and a pair of cotton shorts with two front pleats and side pockets is perfect for sailing enthusiasts. Before and after exercise sessions, top off your look with a comfortable sweatshirt like the ones shown here, from Basset-Walker.

WE'RE HERE TO SERVE YOU!

Children's Fitness Survey Shows Little Improvement

The physical fitness of American public school children has shown virtually no improvement in the last 10 years and in some cases has greatly deteriorated, according to a nationwide survey conducted by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports recently released by PCPFS chairman George Allen.

The survey, designed by the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, consisted of a four-stage probability sampling of 18,857 boys and girls ages six through 17, from 57 school districts and 187 schools. It was the largest school physical fitness survey of its kind ever undertaken in the United States.

Some of the findings, Allen said, are cause for alarm:

-40 percent of boys ages six to 12 cannot do more than one pullup. One out of four cannot do any.

-70 percent of all girls tested cannot do more than one pullup, and 55 percent cannot do any.

-45 percent of boys six to 14 and 55 percent of all girls cannot hold their chin over a raised bar for more than 10 seconds.

-In the 50-yard dash, girls 10, 11, 14 and 16 are significantly slower than they were in 1975.

-In a simple flexibility test, 40 percent of boys ages six to 15 cannot reach their toes.

-Approximately 50 percent of girls ages six to 17 and 30 percent of boys ages six to 12 cannot run a mile in less than 10 minutes.

"This survey shows there are some major problems in physical fitness among the youth of this country," said Allen. "Many children simply aren't getting the vigorous exercise they need to develop strong and healthy bodies."

"What's particularly distressing is that poor fitness now could have serious long-term consequences for a youngster later on. We hope these findings will serve as the impetus for families, schools and communities to work together, all with the goal of improving youth physical fitness in their area."

The 1985 School Fitness Survey, which used portions of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance Youth Fitness Test, provided for the first time comparisons in four test items—shuttle run, long jump, 50-yard dash and pullup/flexed arm hang—with similar surveys done in 1958, 1965 and 1975. There was improvement in the test scores from 1958 to 1965, but a general leveling off since.

"Compared specifically to 1975, the physical fitness levels of public school boys and girls, ages 10-17, as measured by these tests, revealed no significant improvement," says Guy Reiff, Ph.D., University of Michigan, who conducted the study. "In fact, girls disclosed a marked trend toward less leg strength and running speed in the 50-yard dash in half of the age groups."

"In every comparison except for flexibility, girls seem to reach a plateau at about age 14 and then regress," Reiff continued. "That's just about at the eighth-grade level. It undoubtedly indicates that most girls are not taking physical education in high school and are neglecting to be active on their own."

Ash E. Hayes, Ed.D., executive director of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, said that the Council recommends that all children K-12 participate in daily physical education which emphasizes both fitness and skills.

"Only 36 percent of American youngsters have daily physical education in their schools," Hayes pointed out. "We would suggest that parents, educators and community leaders take a good hard look at school programs for this fall and implement changes where needed. This includes schools shifting priorities in many instances and teaching their students the fitness skills needed for life's activities and to achieve good health."

The 1985 School Fitness Survey for the first time tested children aged six through nine. These results will be used to establish norms and to provide comparative data for future years.

Hayes also announced that the Presidential Physical Fitness Awards program, which previously was limited to youngsters 10 through 17 years of age, will be expanded this fall to take in new age groupings down to six. Traditionally, about 18 million youngsters participate in the Presidential Physical Fitness Award program each year with only about three to five percent achieving the award.

Slow, Steady Loss Key To Keeping Weight Off

In spite of all the books, diets and products available, health professionals continue to report that being overweight is still the number one health problem for Americans.

Of the millions of people who join weight loss programs every year, many lose weight only to gain it right back. Very few take it off and keep it off. In fact, people often end up weighing more than they did before they started dieting.

All these defeats cause frustration, low self-esteem and loss of faith in weight loss programs in general. Too many people simply resign themselves to being overweight.

Experience with overweight individuals at Shaklee Corp., a Fortune 500 company and leading nutritional authority for over 30 years, shows that there are four main reasons why many diet programs end in a bust:

First, overweight people want overnight solutions. Unfortunately, fast short-term answers just don't give dieters what they really want: permanent weight loss.

Second, people eat for reasons other than hunger. Unless they understand the subtle, emotional reasons for overeating, they won't be able to change their habits.

Third, most dieters require people to make sacrifices, often literally starving themselves to lose weight. These diets don't help participants to discover that eating nutritiously is not only enjoyable, it's often all that it takes to control weight.

Fourth, dieting can be a lonely experience. Dieters often feel that everyone else can eat! People losing weight benefit from the support and encouragement of others facing the same challenges.

If someone is interested in losing weight, they should, first, avoid the fad diets that don't work. Second, they should choose a comprehensive program supported by a reputable organization with a track record of results. What constitutes a comprehensive program? Here's what to look for:

--The program should focus on slow, steady weight loss rather than overnight solutions.

--It should be nutritious, providing all the essential vitamins and minerals needed for optimum health.

--It should emphasize changing eating habits and lifestyles.

--Regular exercise should be part of any comprehensive program.

--A comprehensive program should provide tools for stress management and motivation--sorely overlooked in many diets.

--Complete programs deal with the emotional aspects of being overweight, too--developing awareness of the reasons people eat other than hunger.

--Many diets fail because dieting is lonely. A good program should provide support from a group, weight loss counselor or both.

--Good programs are easy and convenient and shouldn't feel like a "sacrifice."

--The program should be low in cost. Too often, dieters are seduced by slick ad campaigns or fancy offices. But these are not substitutes for reasonable weight-loss goals and the commitment to follow through.

--The program should be fun. Class sessions should be enjoyable, motivating and stimulating.

--Finally, a good weight loss program should make participants feel energetic, not tired, weak and irritable.

One highly successful program, Slim Up & Live, goes one step further, replacing the negative reinforcement most diets use ("don't do this," "avoid that") with positive goal-setting techniques aimed at achieving permanent slimness and total well-being.

The Slim Up & Live program was created by Ron Willingham, one of the foremost personal development experts in the world, and Shaklee Corp. Their unique collaboration resulted in a comprehensive program that's fun, lively and life changing.

Slim up & Live is a nine-week weight management program conducted by trained counselors using Shaklee Slim Plan products, proven safe and effective after years of careful research and clinical testing.

Participants come to grips with the psychological and emotional aspects of losing weight without sacrificing nutrition, losing an average of two to three pounds per week, and most important, learning the skills to keep it off.

Terry O'Bryan-Wilson of Woodinville, Wash., who lost 35 pounds, reports feeling that she's in control of her eating and her life, for the very first time: "I thought my problem was weight. It wasn't. Maybe that's why my weight kept coming back. The Slim Up & Live program gave me the confidence I needed. Now I'm in control instead of food controlling me."

your area, look in the telephone book under

The City of Waukegan and Midlane Country Club have announced the first annual Waukeganidlane Five Kilometer Run or Walk.

The event will be held on Sunday, April 5, at 9 a.m. Entry fee is $6 which includes a race T-shirt. All proceeds from the event will go to the Waukegan Teenage Youth Center located at Grand Ave. and Genesee St. in Waukegan.

The route consists of a 3.1-mile run or walk course with start and finish at Midlane Country Club. It will be accurately measured and there will be seven age categories, beginning with 13 and under and going up to 51 and over.

Organizers are expecting 300 to 400 runners and 100 to 200 walkers for this first event.

"Walking as well as running has become a popular form of exercise in the last couple of years," said Debra Paravonian, administrative aide to Mayor Sabonjian. "We want to make sure that people from all age groups and all athletic abilities participate in our race. I'm sure that there are many golfers who would love to partake in Midlane's event, and walking 3.1 miles is a distance most people can handle."

Awards will be given for overall first, second and third place for male and female participants, plus a first place award in each age category. The prize package is being jointly sponsored by Midlane Country Club and the City of Waukegan. Prizes include a $25 gift certificate for Midlane Country Club, a $100 cash prize for the City of Waukegan, paid entry into the Lake County Marathon, half marathon and 10-Kilometer race, a race plaque and more.

"We are mailing applications to runners

Applications are also available by calling city hall at (312) 360-9000, extension 513.

Offer Nutrition News From A Van

Universities are joining the fight to educate the public on good eating habits. Nutritionists in Penn State's College of Human Development are taking their expertise on the road with the help of a 25-foot customized van called "Nutrition Van Go."

Staff members at the Nutrition Information and Resource Center (NIRC) are taking the van around Pennsylvania to share information about weight control, nutrition for sports, healthful snacking and other topics with educators.

Penn State's nutrition department already has one of the best-known nutrition education programs in the country. With the van, staff members hope to reach even more people.

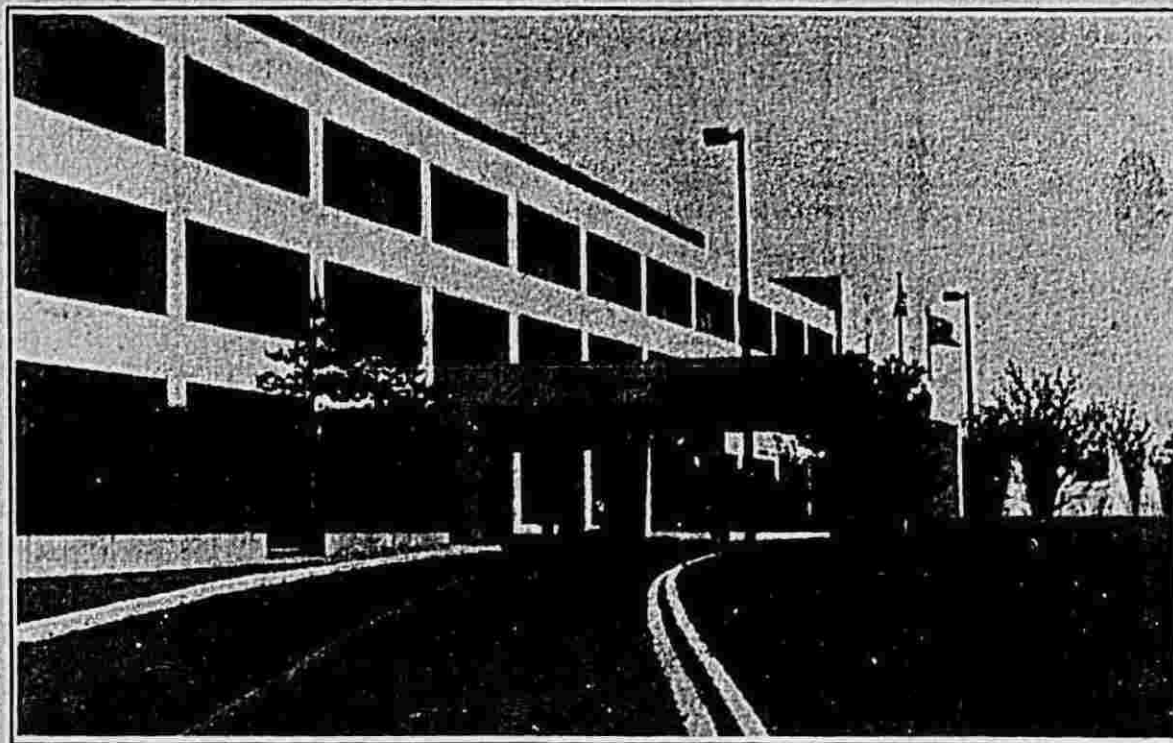

"About 30 educators visited the van in our first two trips," says Suzanne Pelican, outreach coordinator at NIRC. "That's comparable to the number of people who could travel to our center at University Park in several months."

The van is equipped with an Apple II microcomputer and many educational software programs dealing with nutrition. It also carries videocassettes, slide shows, film and filmstrips, as well as equipment for viewing them.

Also on board are books, learning packets, journal and magazine articles, posters and public display kits.

The van is designed for educators, including teachers, community nutritionists, home economists, dieticians, physicians, nurses and coaches. "We ultimately reach more people if we teach the educators and they in turn pass the information on to their audiences," Pelican says.

Nutrition educators who are interested in scheduling a van visit should contact the Nutrition Information and Resource Center, Benedict House, University Park, Penn., 16802 or call (814) 865-6323.

New Test Helps To Clarify Effects of Passive Smoke

Just how much does smoking by others affect nonsmokers' health? It's a difficult question to answer, particularly when the nonsmokers are also exposed to cancer-causing agents and toxins from other sources such as diesel exhausts.

An important new test that allows separation of data on nonsmokers' exposure to cigarette smoke from environmental pollutants was announced recently at a meeting of the American Chemical Society.

One surprising finding from preliminary studies with the test is that so-called low nicotine cigarettes expose passive smokers to the same level of nicotine as traditional cigarettes.

"We may have the most specific test for passive smoking thus far developed," said Dr. S. Katherine Hammond of the University of Massachusetts Medical Center in Worcester.

"Other tests have measured particles in the air and carbon monoxide levels, but these aren't unique to tobacco. If the test isn't specific enough, other environmental compounds can affect the results. In one case where researchers thought they were measuring smoke at a bar (by the carbon monoxide levels), they ended up measuring the alcohol in the air as well as the smoke."

Questionnaires are also of limited use in gathering data on exposure to passive smoking, according to Dr. Hammond. "Researchers found in one experiment looking into passive smoking that one-third of those who said they weren't exposed to tobacco smoke were married to smokers."

Dr. Hammond's test keys in on nicotine. "Tobacco is the only important source of nicotine. When we know its level, we can find tobacco's contribution to pollution and also tag that measurement to health effects."

Using chemically-treated filters and gas chromatography—a powerful analytical technique—Dr. Hammond has successfully tested air in both a controlled chamber and in an office.

"We've demonstrated that this test is very sensitive. It can detect levels of nicotine that are less than one percent of those inhaled by smokers. This should be an excellent tool for sorting out facts in the controversy of the health effects of passive smoking."

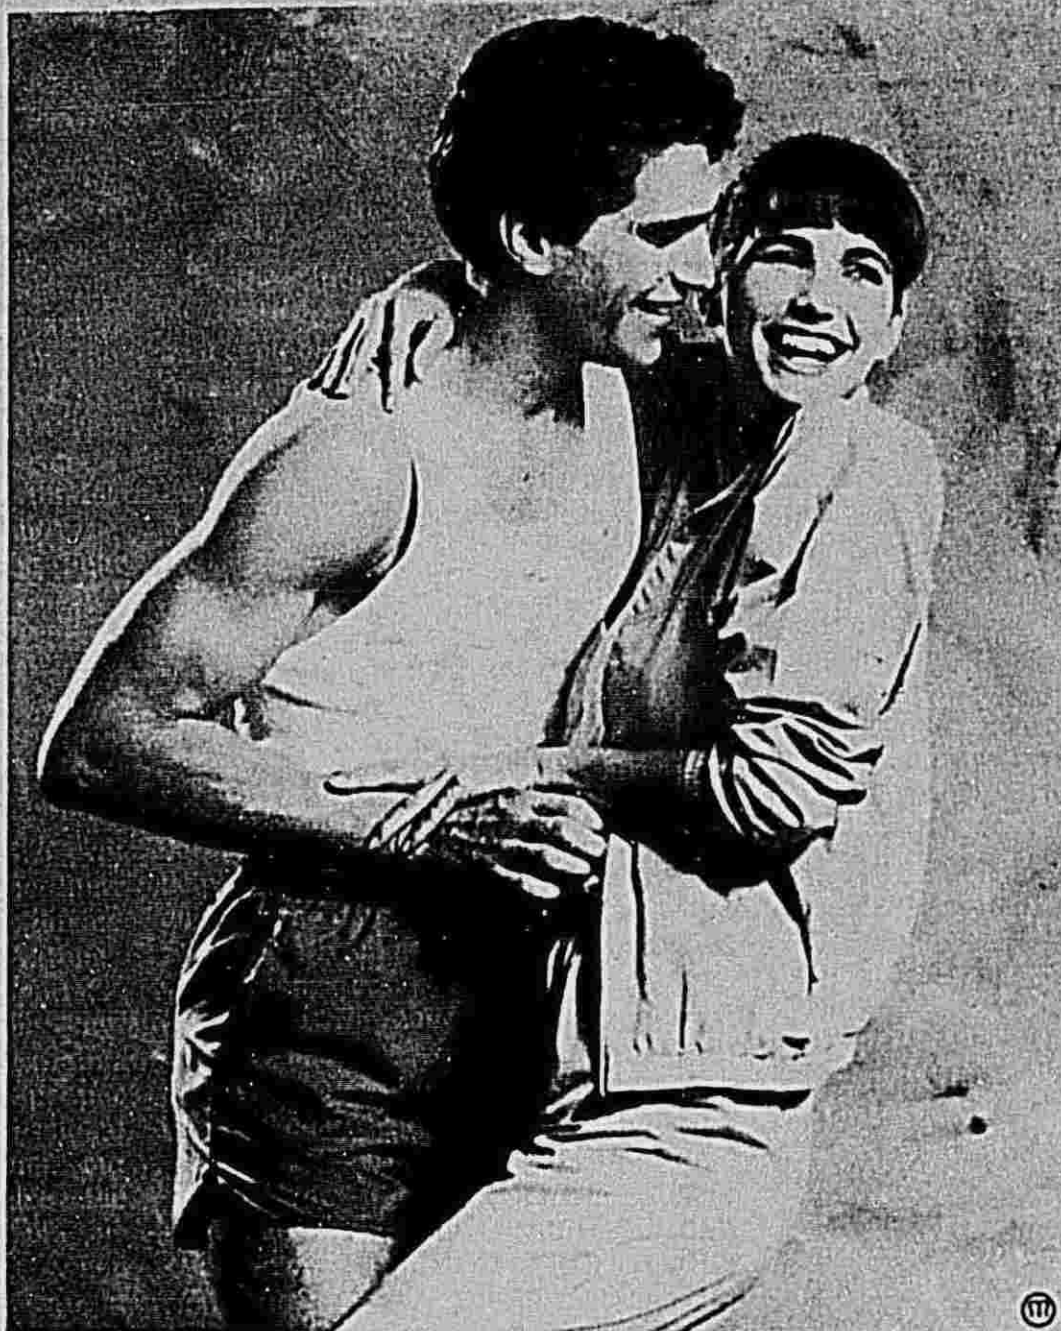

Dr. Hammond, who developed the test when she found tobacco smoke was obfuscating her data on occupational risks, will conduct more studies this summer or fall.

Sorensen's Aerobics Program Stresses Heart Workout

Long before Heather Locklear ever posed for a health club add, or "beautiful" people pranced on the beaches, Jacki Sorensen was developing aerobics.

Specifically, Sorensen's program is aerobic dancing. Locally, instructor Nanci

Anderson teaches the class at Gurnee American Legion Hall.

"This is not a fad program," Anderson said as her class began warm-ups.

Anderson conducts a two-day-a-week class with each class lasting an hour. Classes meet Tuesday and Thursdays at 9:30 a.m.

There is a warmup period before the class and afterwards a "cool down" session. There are 14-week programs, each operating under a single theme.

Classes are conducted with music of the top-10 hits. All instructors in the programs are certified, Anderson said and must meet weight requirements, run a 12-minute test, be CPR certified and be a non-smoker.

"It's important that instructors be tested," Anderson said.

There are several benefits to the Sorensen program. These include: burning calories that would otherwise go to fat; curbing appetites; reducing stress; slowing down the aging process; improving self image and lowers blood pressure.

The workouts work on the cardiovascular system Anderson said.

"We also stress proper aerobic shoes," Anderson said.

Anderson said she is not really in competition with the many health clubs which are in Lake County.

Racewalking Catches Up Preferred Fitness Sport

Walking is fast becoming a national pastime. More than 10 million people are doing it just for the pleasure of walking but for the health benefits.

Shoes, similar to those for runners, are being produced especially for walkers, and there is at least one new magazine for walkers.

To walk for fitness, the trick is to move fast enough to accelerate the heart for a sustained period of time, causing a need for more oxygen.

"Any rhythmic, repetitive activity which can be continued for two or more minutes without huffing and puffing afterwards is probably aerobic," says Dr. Lenore Zohman, author of Beyond Diet, Exercise Your Way to Fitness and Health.

Walking five miles in an hour, says Dr. Zohman, is an excellent example of a dynamic aerobic exercise. To benefit from walking or any aerobic exercise, it must be done three times weekly without missing more than two days in succession, emphasizes Dr. Zohman.

Another form of health-walking that is gaining interest in America is racewalking, often referred to as the fitness sport of the '80s. Racewalking means keeping one foot on the ground at all times.

The International Amateur Athletic Federation defines racewalking as "a progression by steps so taken that unbroken contact with the ground is maintained at each step. The advancing foot of the walker must make contact with the ground before the rear foot leaves the ground."

It may sound complicated, but like many things, it becomes automatic with practice. Synchronized with the footsteps, the arms pump up and down in a piston motion. The gait is steady and even paced and, once mastered, easy to sustain over long distances.

When racewalkers participate with runners, they often outwalk them, with the last racewalkers finishing before the last runners.

This is what happens in the Mazola Corn Oil YMCA Shape-Up Run held annually in New York City's Central Park, where as many as 65 racewalkers join 3,000 runners.

Racewalkers entered the Olympics in 1908 in London. The United States, however, didn't have racewalkers of international caliber until the late 1960s. Before then, the sport was dominated by Swedish, British, Italian and Russian walkers.

Mazola corn oil, an official sponsor for the 1988 Olympics, this year begins sponsorship of several U.S. racewalking events including the U.S. National Racewalking Championship for the 50K in Seattle, Wash., and the 20K in Eugene, Ore.

Their schedule also includes sponsorship of the 20K and 50K U.S. Olympic trials held in 1988.

Some of the U.S. team members will be racewalking in the 1987 Lugano Cup, the World Racewalking Championships being held for the first time in the United States in New York City's Central Park.

Howard Jacobson, executive director of the Walkers Club of America, and author of Racewalk to Fitness, says that it is easy to recognize racewalkers by their unique gait and the pumping action of the arms. It's this piston motion, borrowed from racewalkers, that turns fast walkers into health walkers, says Jacobson.

Healthwalking is not only the best way to shape up but is also, when coupled with a sensible diet, the best way to trim down, Jacobson believes.

Healthwalkers, like racewalkers and runners, are as concerned about their diets as they are about their exercise. They strive to maintain a well-balanced diet that supplies the body with major nutrients, and a balance of protein, fat and carbohydrate.

Although racewalking and other aerobic exercise can help lower blood cholesterol levels, lowering the amount of saturated fat in the diet also contributes to overall fitness.

In support of this dedication to total fitness, the Mazola Nutrition/Health Information Service is making available-free to consumers-two folders: "Q's and A's about Food for Runners and Other Athletes" and "Recipes from Famous Runners" (recipes are moderate in sodium, saturated fat and cholesterol).

For copies, legibly print your name and address with zip code on a postcard and mail to Mazola, Dept. QAMR/RFR, Box 307, Coventry, Conn., 06238.

New Treatment Improves Oxygenation Of Red Blood

Permanent damage caused by heart attacks and strokes may be reduced, and transfusion patients may recover faster, thanks to a new blood treatment. Dr. Murray Weiner of the University of Cincinnati Medical Center told a meeting of the American Chemical Society that he and Dr. Robert S. Franco have developed a new technique that dramatically improves the oxygen providing ability of blood cells.

The technique should work well with blood in the body as well as blood stored in banks, according to Dr. Weiner. He noted that typically, the longer blood is stored, the more it loses its ability to deliver much-needed oxygen to body tissues, and the less useful it becomes for transfusions.

He and Dr. Franco found that by introducing a natural compound called phytic acid into the blood cells, they can offset this tendency and actually make the cells more effective at delivering oxygen to patients' tissues.

"Literally millions of people could benefit from this advance," Dr. Weiner said. "It's the most exciting thing I've been involved with in my career."

Phytic acid is found in plants and is known to have many biological effects, including preventing tooth decay. Once inside a blood cell, it weakens the natural ability of hemoglobin to bind oxygen, making that oxygen more available to tissues, according to Dr. Weiner.

"Aside from rejuvenating stored blood, this has important consequences for enriching a patient's own blood," he said. "More oxygen could be transported to damaged heart tissue, limbs with severe vein or artery blockages, and any organ that has limited blood flow. This would be done without the usual increase in blood pressure, an important consideration for people susceptible to strokes."

In most cases, this kind of treatment should be less expensive than a blood transfusion, according to Dr. Weiner. "The materials are cheap, the equipment's not fancy, and you'll generally be using the patient's own blood. You could set it up so the blood passes from the patient into the treatment chamber, and back into the patient. The whole process will take only minutes."

Dr. Weiner and Dr. Franco have developed three methods to force blood cells to absorb the phytic acid.

The most effective one appears to be stretching the cell membrane and allowing the phytic acid to slip in through enlarged holes. This is accomplished by treating the cells with dimethyl sulfoxide (DMSO), a small molecule that so readily enters blood cells that high amounts can actually swell the cells to the bursting point.

After the DMSO goes into the cells, the surrounding solution is rapidly diluted with a solution containing phytic acid. This causes a quick increase and decrease in cell size, making the blood cells temporarily leaky and allowing the phytic acid to get into them.

"The first clinical use of this treatment will probably be as a therapy for sickle-cell patients," Dr. Weiner said. "Sickling of cells is dependent on hemoglobin concentration, and one of the effects of this treatment is bigger blood cells and loss of some hemoglobin."

Pumping Furiously

Racewalkers pump their arms in step with their stride. Growing numbers of fast walkers (call it healthwalking) are increasing the aerobic benefits of walking by adopting the racewalker style.

Aids Performance

When the temperature is rising and one plans to work out, the most important thing to exercise is caution about proper hydration.

In fact, fluids are just about the best aid to athletic performance. Heat and humidity can present real dangers to summer sports enthusiasts.

The choice of what to drink is pure and simple. Pure water clears the stomach faster than any other fluid and is quickly absorbed to hydrate the body.

Sparkling mineral waters, like Perrier, offer pure, chemical-free refreshment—and may also help replace calcium, magnesium, and other vital minerals. Perrier's light carbonation quenches the thirst without the bloating effect one can get from soft drinks.

Perrier is also salt-free. Salt in high concentrations should be especially avoided, and can be safely replenished at a normal post-exercise meal.

The choice of what to drink includes the popular sports drinks. These drinks empty from the stomach at least 35 percent more slowly than plain water because they have high sugar and high salt concentrations.

A good rule for water consumption during vigorous exercise is, drink as much as you can as often you can without making yourself uncomfortable. Don't wait until thirst beckons, because thirst is not a reliable gauge of fluid needs.

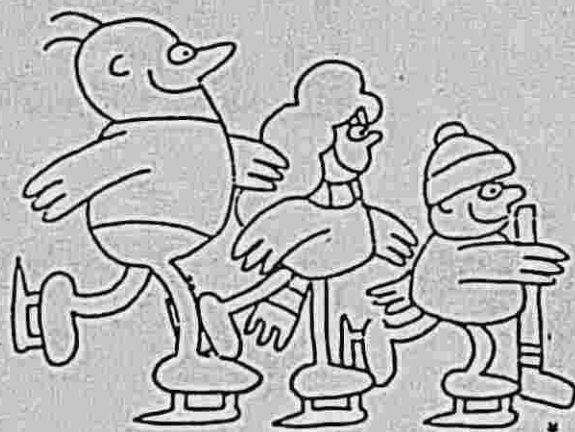

A plentiful supply of water plays a lifesaving role, so remember to pour it on for summer sports safety.

Looking And Feeling Good

Pursuit Of Fitness Is Modern Way Of Life

The health and fitness craze that began in the 60's and came to fruition in the 70's is no longer a craze or novelty, but a way of life for most people. Even those of us who have an unyielding aversion to sweat socks and medicine balls have come to realize the joys (yes joys!) of exercise.

As difficult as it may be to get oneself into an exercise program, the rewards are great. Feeling less tense, happier about one's body, and more energetic are the experiences that fitness fanatics describe.

Perhaps the best thing about being healthy and fit is that you can do it at your own pace. Trying to run five miles your first day out will get you nowhere, except maybe to a hospital.

Moderation is the key when starting your exercise program; physically it is a must, and psychologically you are more inclined to stick to a program in which you start off slowly and build up to a more rapid pace.

Another way to ensure that you stick to an exercise program is finding a sport or exercise that you truly enjoy and feel comfortable with.

If you are a person who enjoys group activities, an aerobics or dance class might be the activity for you.

Then again if you are more of an individualist, running, swimming or golf - all activities you can do on your own - are probably more suited to your personality. The possibilities are endless when it comes to choosing a program suited to your needs.

Even the traditional exercise class offers many different degrees of aerobics and calisthenics.

In one given aerobic program you may find four or five types of classes - from stretch and tone, which concentrates mostly on toning the muscles and does not include an aerobic workout; to low weights, which entails the use of free weights such as dumbbells and ankle weights; to classes that concentrate specifically on reducing hips and thighs; to jazz aerobics for the dance lover in all of us; to your basic aerobic or advanced aerobic class.

So there truly is no excuse for not taking part in an exercise program, because generally speaking there is a class for everyone.

Then again, if aerobics are just not your thing, don't rule out competitive sports such as tennis, softball or basketball.

Water sports also have their appeal, and with warm weather as an incentive you can mix such sports as swimming and water skiing with social activities.

The appeal of health and fitness knows no age limit and young and old alike can be found stretching and bending to the sound of a discobeat.

Senior citizen organizations as well as pre-school programs have made exercise a priority, while special exercise classes for moms-to-be can be found everywhere.

People's awareness of their bodies have inspired a recognition of healthy foods, while reports of the benefits of cutting down on fats, sugars and salts have strengthened the argument for more "natural foods."

Steak and potatoes are being replaced with broiled chicken, fish and salads.

Whole-grain breads and rice have replaced starchy white bread, and the word "fiber" has become permanently etched in our vocabularies.

A few years ago, it was safe to call the fitness craze a fad, but given the amount of consciousness raising the health and fitness movement has effected, it is now safe to say that it is here to stay.

New Process Gives Greater Effectiveness To Oral Drugs

Some of the most effective medicinal compounds known are destroyed by enzymes in the stomach and small intestine. This means that insulin, many vaccines, the anticoagulant heparin, and effective new pain killers and contraceptives must be given by injection rather than orally, greatly reducing their usefulness.

Scientists at Bowling Green University and the Medical College of Ohio think they have overcome that problem now, with a new plastic coating for tablets that will allow these and many other drugs to be made in tablet form. They described their work at a national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

The plastic coating on the outside of the tablet can only be opened by bacteria found in the large intestine, according to Dr. Murray Saffran, a biochemist at the Medical College of Ohio in Toledo.

"This means the tablets are protected as they pass through most of the digestive system," he said. "But when they reach the large intestine, the plastic barrier, which is similar to styrofoam or lucite, has holes torn in it by bacterial enzymes. The drugs leak out and, in theory, are absorbed through the intestinal wall into the bloodstream where they need to be. There's no destruction of the drugs since the large intestine doesn't contain the drug-digesting enzymes that the stomach and small intestine do."

In studies with rats, Dr. Saffran has already demonstrated that his packaging works for the delivery of vasopressin, a hormone that controls the output of urine. Preliminary tests with insulin have also been successful.

Because the drug must travel through so much of the digestive system, Dr. Saffran expects coated drugs will take four to six hours to begin action in humans.

"Not good if you have a headache," he said, "but for chronic pain and most other medical applications, the time lag shouldn't be a problem."

He adds that 10 to 100 times the injected dosage would be necessary but, without the plastic, it would take 1,000 times the injected dosage for most vulnerable drugs to be effective.

If all goes well, Dr. Saffran expects clinical testing to begin within a year. He sees a number of other potential applications of the plastic coated tablets that would make drug delivery easier and more efficient:

-diabetes: many diabetics could replace insulin injections with insulin tablets.

-heart and blood vessel diseases: the drug heparin, used extensively in hospitals to prevent premature blood clotting, is digested in the small intestine and cannot be given by mouth. An oral form would extend its use from hospital to out-patient and home situations.

-pain: newer, more effective pain killers have been developed, but are of limited value because they must be injected. Orally active forms would provide incentive to the drug industry to develop them further.

-vaccines: the Sabin polio vaccine and other oral vaccines might be more efficient by mouth if they were delivered to the large intestine, where they would not be destroyed.

-colon cancer: anticancer drugs, wrapped in the new plastic coating, could be delivered directly to the colon, for greater efficiency and fewer side effects.

Dog Star

Every dog has its day. And winter is the time for Sirius, the "Dog Star." According to Ranger Rick magazine, Sirius is one of the stars closest to Earth, making it the brightest in the winter sky. It's also hotter and bigger than any of the other close stars. Sirius is part of the constellation called "Big Dog," or Canis Major.

The BOX SEAT

Making jockeys obsolete?

By Marty Linehan

Madison Square Garden was the capital of the boxing world before the sweet science deserted the New York City arena for the backyards of the gambling casinos of Las Vegas and Atlantic City. Now there is a possibility that another sport could get a shot at the Garden.

Would you believe horse racing?

Well, not the big 1,200-pound thoroughbreds. The Madison Square Garden racers could be such scaled-down mounts as 500-pound hackneys ponies. And making it all possible will be robot jockeys.

They might be a far cry from a "fellow like Earl Sande booting the winners home" during the '20s, or Eddie Arcaro winning two Triple Crowns in the '40s, or even Angel Cordero in the '70s and '80s.

They would be 22-pound, radio-controlled robot jockeys able to ride high-spirited hackneys four times around a 440-foot track at speeds a little slower than trotters.

While this may seem far-out, Dave Kime has invented a computerized robot jockey, and Charles McKean, who owns a Missouri ranch and is a commodity trader, has invested $2 million in perfecting the robot. He plans to turn out four dozen working models.

Kime's invention, better known as Super-Jock, uses servo motors to control the arms attached to the reins and a speaker built into the jockey's body to allow a human controller in the infield to give orders. The bodies are glass fiber and shaped like humans. One difference is the whip, which can't be attached to the hands and is therefore extended from the robot jockey's rear end.

Donald Teague, a Missouri businessman who leads the group of investors, says Show Me Track, Inc., as it is called, is well on its way to holding a first robot-driven racing meet inside the Kemper Arena in Kansas City this summer. Teague sold the other businessmen with his videotape of an exhibition race held in the Birmingham-Jefferson Coliseum in Alabama last summer.

Missouri only recently cleared the way for horse racing within its borders, and if Show Me Track has its way, the six-week Kemper indoor races could present the first pari-mutual betting in the state's history.

One problem could be with the hackneys. In exhibition races, they have shown a tendency to bump each other while fighting for the rail. Show Me Track expects that to be remedied by changing the rules to allow a little more contact.

One benefit of the robots will be the elimination of complaints about jockeys holding horses back. Then again, who is going to watch the human controller in the infield?

CLC To Welcome LaVista, Open Science Wing May 3

The College of Lake County's new president will be welcomed May 3.

At its February meeting, the CLC board scheduled that day for the dedication of the new science wing as well as the welcoming reception for Dr. Daniel LaVista, the newly appointed president of CLC.

The board, though, did not act on LaVista's exact starting date or salary. That will be determined at the board's March 24 meeting.

The board also approved the publication of the completed college history, written by CLC social science instructor Ruth Rickard. The book will be released May 3. Rickard, a member of the college's faculty since CLC's founding in 1969, wrote the history at the request of former CLC president Dr. John O. Hunter. The history is titled: "History of the College of Lake County, 1969-1986. Reflector and Reactor to the Needs of the Changing Times: The Story of the College Under Two Administrations."

Rickard, a resident of Waukegan, spent more than a year on the project.

In other action, the board approved a contract with the Lake Forest Elementary School Dist. for between $2,656 and $3,375. The school district has requested consulting services from CLC to determine computer needs for the district.

The board also accepted a $64,412 contract between the CLC Dislocated Worker Program and the Lake County Private Industry Council.

Schedule Town And Country Art Show

The 29th Annual Town and Country Amateur Art Show will be held April 8 through 10 at the Lake County Fairgrounds, Bldg. 7, located on Rte. 45, just north of Rte. 120 in Grayslake.

The show is open to all amateur artists in Lake County. There will be special divisions for students and adults, and work will be critiqued by the judge at 2 p.m., Thursday, April 9.

The main criterion for work entered in the show is that it be original. Items prepared from kits or other aids that eliminate the artist's basic conception and creativity will not be accepted.

Examples of works being sought for the show include photos taken by participants, paintings, drawings and prints. Such work can be abstract, non-objective, portraits, still-life groupings, landscapes, that are original statements by the artist submitting them.

Goals of the show include: —Providing a place to exhibit creative works and have them viewed by the public;

—encouraging the constructive use of leisure time and the growth and development of individual's interest in the arts through participation in continuing education or adult education programs;

—Broadening the cultural and educational background of individuals;

—Increasing statewide interest in the visual arts and appreciation of the arts as well as the encouragement and development of leadership for amateur art groups and associations;

—Use of professional critiques to encourage individual artists to improve technical skills and raise their artistic standards.

The Town and Country Amateur Art Show is sponsored by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, the Cooperative Extension Service, the College of Fine and Applied Arts, the College of Applied Life Studies, and the Office of Continuing Education and Public Service.

Cajun Country Ready For Grand Mardi Gras

Mardi Gras in New Orleans! The very words conjure images of street dancing, parades, costumes, masks, festivals, jazz and make believe. March 3 officially begins the pre-lenten festivities which stretch into a free-wheeling, two-week celebration. Fat Tuesday, Mardi Gras Day's other name, launches the biggest and splashiest fete ever planned. The city's new festival marketplace provides a magnificent showcase for Fat Monday's Mississippi River boat parade. It transports Rex, the Carnival King, amid blazing fireworks, to the site welcoming Fat Tuesday.

Paraders fill the streets by 7 a.m., while formalities begin at 9 a.m., centering around music, marchers and floats as spectator-participant crowds jam parade routes. The buoyant spirit of Mardi Gras is catching. Visitors uninhibitedly join the heraldry and feel the vibrant roots of other nations as the city moves to reconstruct the pleasures of bygone days and other lands.

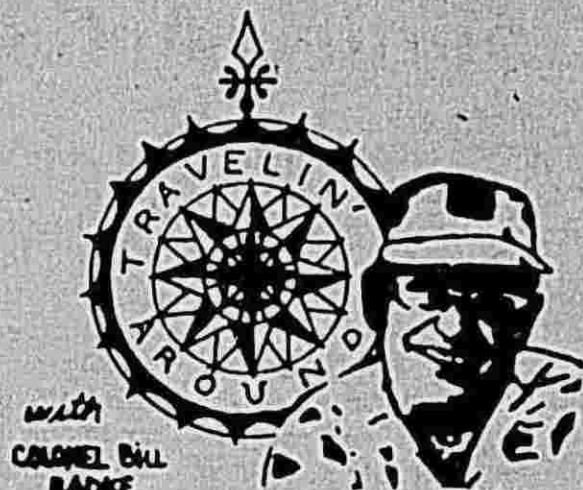

Mississippi's Natchez Pilgrimage is scheduled for March 7 through April 5 and can be nicely woven into a Mardi Gras trip. The pilgrimage idea began in Natchez and quickly spread throughout the state. It serves to focus attention upon landmarks and perpetuates history, so much a part of these grand old homes. Special days and events are scheduled during four periods. Well over a dozen Mississippi communities now have pilgrimages. A toll-free call to the Natchez Pilgrimage Office, (800) 647-6742, will bring detailed information concerning that and other neighboring locations. Antebellum mansions retain the beauty of bygone years, allowing the romantic past to remain alive in pilgrimage magic.

The romance of the Mississippi River boat charms unlike any other boat trip and can be made in comfort from among several stern wheeler replica ships. The Delta Queen Steamboat Co. dominates passenger service from Cincinnati, Ohio, or St. Paul, Minn., to New Orleans, with enroute ports of call. Many who enjoy these trips are recreational boaters in their own rights.

An opportunity to view this market is offered at the Midwest Boat and Resort Show, which opened Wednesday at the O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont. In port through Sunday, March 1, attendees may view more than 175 crafts of various shapes and sizes. Beginning with the 42-foot cruiser, Chesapeake, they work their way down to 12-foot, portable folding boats. In between are sailboats, fishing craft, runabouts, cruisers, house and float boats. The popularity of pleasure boating is evidenced by some nine million registered hulls. Show opens at noon weekdays and 10 a.m. on the weekend. Admission is $5.50 and $3 for children 12 and under. For information, call (312) 299-3131.

National Tourism Week will be formalized the third week in May, recognizing tourism as a major industry, ranking among the top three in the nation. A poll taken by USA TODAY indicates nearly five million Americans take an average of seven vacations or weekend trips per year. Commercial lodging was used by 46 percent; the rest visited friends, relatives or a second home.

Present Fresh Water Fishing Symposium '87

Fishermen, if you want to start catching more fish, you won't want to miss the Fresh Water Fishing Symposium '87.

The Fresh Water Fishing Symposium '87 will feature two fishing pros, who will share their fish-catching secrets.

Bob Kaszynski, a three time champion of Walleyes Unlimited, will give his presentation on "Proven Techniques For Trophy Walleyes".

Denny Martin, President of the Chain-O-Lakes Bass Fisherman's Association, will discuss "Bass Fishing The Fox Chain-O-Lakes".

Tackle Hall will feature dozens of tackle shops, resorts, fishing guides, charters, and tackle reps. You may browse and talk fishing with these people before, during, or after the show.

This show is presented by the Fox River Valley Chapter of Muskies, Inc., a non-profit organization, with over 40 Chapters nationwide.

For more information call Ken Olson (312) 879-0217.

'Creative Living' For Area Youngsters

Young people ages eight to 19 and their parents are invited to attend a "Creative Living" workshop, sponsored by the Lake County 4-H program. Held at the Lake County Extension Office, Hwy. 45 in Grayslake, the workshop costs $3, which covers lunch and supplies. Call the 4-H office, (312) 223-8627, to register by March 3.

May Is Peak Month For Morels In Michigan

Some search for sunken treasure beneath the seas, others for lost gold mines and ancient artifacts, while a few still seek the reward of eternal youth. Then there are those who make an annual pilgrimage into Michigan's woodlands in quest of the elusive morels, monarch of the state's more than 2,000 varieties of wild mushrooms.

Morels fall into the classification of a gourmet delicacy with a unique flavor unlike other mushrooms. Like all mushrooms, however, morels require somewhat specific conditions of moisture and temperature. A warm spring with plenty of moisture is best, while a dry, cold spring usually means failure of the crop. Although they can be found from late April through June, May is considered the peak month. As for locality, there's good hunting in both southern and northern Michigan.

All species of morels found in Michigan have one distinctive characteristic in common: their caps, or tops, are pitted with little hollows. Nevertheless, they are extremely elusive sprouts, even to the most experienced eye because they blend so astutely into their background of last fall's leaves and dead grass. For this reason, the hunter should be prepared to do a considerable amount of hiking in pursuit of this prize. And, don't expect a seasoned hunter to direct you to good hunting ground. Such information is definitely, "top secret."

The best guide for the novice is a good book that provides pictures as well as descriptions of the edible and poisonous species that the amateur is most likely to encounter. As for equipment, about all that is needed is a basket, a knife, a comfortable pair of sturdy walking shoes or boots, and a lot of patience. A paper bag can be substituted for the basket but plastic bags are taboo. Morels packed in airtight plastic will begin to spoil before you arrive home.

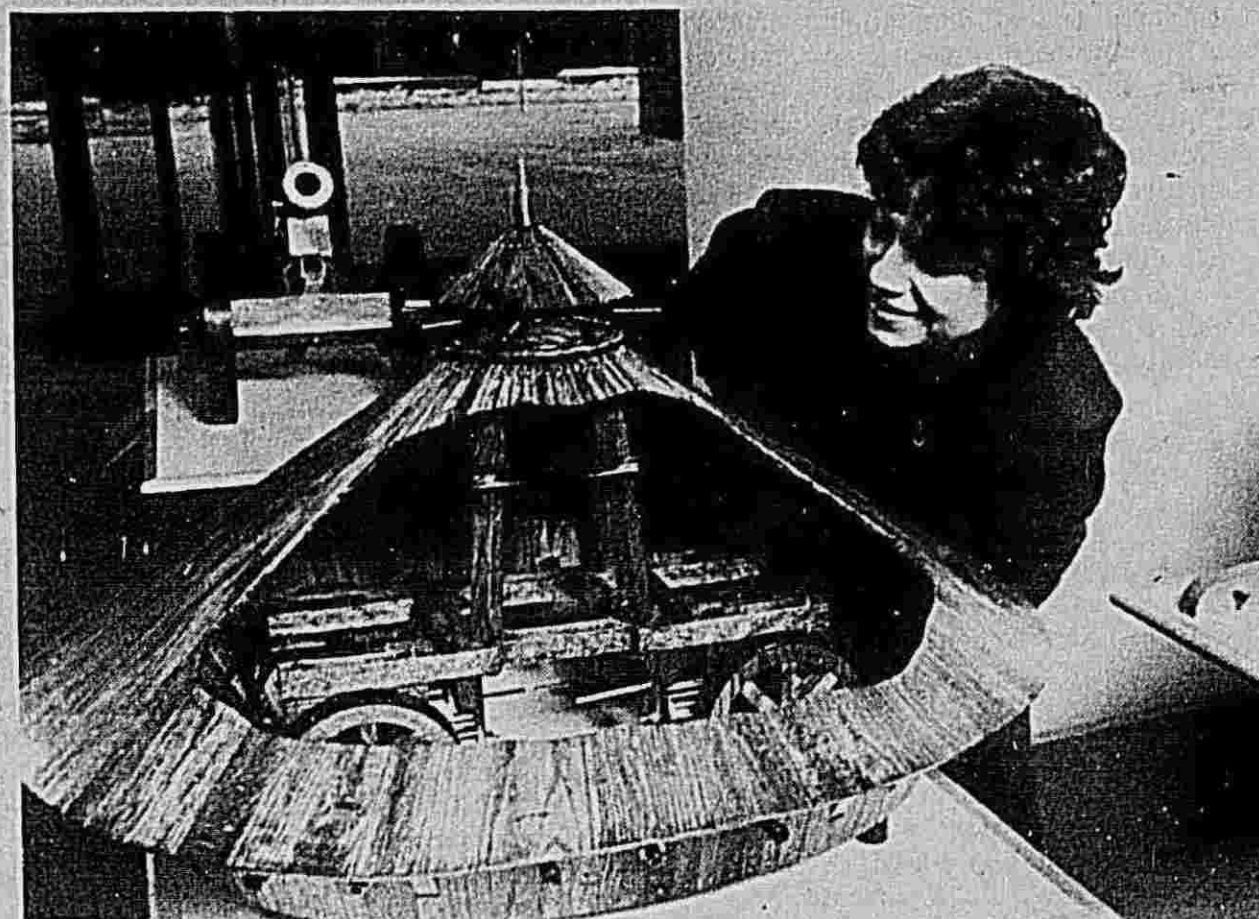

It may come as a shock to some, but mushrooms of any kind are better unwashed. If this violates your culinary code, be sure to dry morels thoroughly on paper towels after washing. To prepare, cut off the stems at the base of the caps and slice the caps lengthwise. Then, saute them in a generous amount of butter or margarine about five minutes on each side. Do not heap the morel halves, just cover the bottom of the skillet. Morels may also be creamed, stewed, canned or dried.

Mushroom hunting is like any other form of recreation; it has its hazards as well as its rewards. It's a foolhardy pastime for the careless, a delightful experience for the sensible. And incidentally, you don't need a license.

If you're looking for a different kind of fun with delicious rewards, try "mushrooming" for morels in Michigan. (There's good hunting in the Gaylord area from May 6-20, and the National Mushroom Hunting Championship is scheduled for May 9 and 10 at Boyne City.)

For more information on other spring and summer fun in Michigan, contact the Michigan Travel Bureau at (800) 5432/YES.

Sheriff Expounds On Value Of Citizen Involvement

Without the help of the citizen, police combating crime by themselves is a futile effort," stated Lake County Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox. "Citizen involvement in Lake County has been the mainstay which has allowed Lake County to be identified as a model crime prevention community."

Neighborhood Watch is the primary project of Sheriff Babcox and he presently has over 90 organized subdivisions who keep an eye out in their neighborhoods for suspicious cars and people. These residents then log descriptions and report them to the Sheriff's Crime Prevention Bureau, which coordinates this with investigation reports of burglary or property damage. "All this leads to arrests," stated Babcox, "and as a result other criminals find it undesirable to operate in these areas. I don't know what kind of car your neighbor drives, or the hours that his house may be vacant, but you do. If you saw someone trying to open his door, you'd be suspicious and hopefully call us to investigate. That's Neighborhood Watch—everybody watching each others' property to make their subdivisions safer to live in."

The sheriff related a case that had happened a few years ago: "There was a string of daylight burglaries occurring in a subdivision, and we were trying our best to locate the perpetrator with no success. We tried everything from stakeouts to listening devices to remote alarms—to no avail. I sent in a Crime Prevention Team into the area and they organized a Neighborhood Watch Group. As a result, the residents reported a television delivery truck and a van with the name of a plumber on it, as frequenting the subdivision. These were the burglars and this information solved the case."

Sheriff Babcox relates that it is his hope that all the communities will participate in Neighborhood Watch. "Just contact the Lake County Sheriff's Police Special Services Division at (312) 360-5922, and my staff will arrange a meeting with you and your neighbors.

munications, Obenaus directs a staff responsible for the total on-air sound of the station. He also is in charge of the format and any syndicated programs, and trains the on-air staff.

Lambs Receives $17,185 From Marshall Fields

The Lambs, Inc. received a bit of post-holiday Christmas cheer with the news that the organization was the recipient of a gift of $17,185. The generous donation was the result of the Mistletoe Bear Christmas Sharing Program sponsored by Marshall Field's.

The program was organized to benefit 20 Chicago-area charities through the sales of Mistletoe Bear, a plush polar bear complete with winter cap and scarf, which was created especially for Marshall Field's stores.

The Christmas Sharing Program was planned so that $1 from the sale of each of the Mistletoe Bears would be donated to charitable organizations chosen by local Marshall Field's stores.

Beyer To Have Tough Re-Election Battle

JOHN STEINKE

In 1988, the Dist. 6 county board race is going to be hotter than high school love. Dist. 6 includes Cuba, Ela, Fremont and Wauconda Twp., along with portions of

Steinke On Politics

Libertyville and Vernon Twp. It is a predominantly Republican territory with a bounty on Deomcrats. If you win the GOP primary, it is tantamount to the election. The area is populated by the "mink and manure" set. Political candidates must appeal to rich Republicans and horse owners to win elections.

A hot primary campaign is shaping up because of a divisive split among the four county board representatives from Dist. 6. The county board has been fragmented between the "Mickey" Babcox-Bob Neal party regulars and the Norm Geary-Mike Graham independent Republicans. Among the Dist. 6 Representatives, Jerry Beyer of Wauconda is a GOP regular while C. Richard Anderson of North Barrington (Cuba), Bruce Hansen of Lake Zurich (Ela) and John Reindl of rural Mundelein (Fremont) are associated with the independent Republican faction.

Both Hansen and Reindl are first-term representatives, who won office in the 1986 elections. Both Beyer and Anderson are veteran county board members, who will be seeking re-election in the March 15, 1988, GOP primary. The Dist. 6 representatives were divided on the selection of a county board chairman last December. County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle of Zion was re-elected to his second-term. The party regulars, including Beyer, furnished the votes for LaBelle's re-election. Beyer's three colleagues (Anderson, Hansen and Reindl) opposed the Zion Representative's candidacy. Two weeks before the chairmanship election, Beyer claimed that his three colleagues threatened him with political destruction unless he co-operated with them on the selection process.

Reportedly, Bruce Hansen warned Beyer that he would have to spend $10,000 to secure his renomination in the 1988 primary. Beyer refused to capitulate to the political pressure from his peers. On Dec. 1, 1986, "Rich" Anderson, Norm Geary and Democrat John Balen were organizing a campaign to block Jim LaBelle's election. Their strategy was to elect Geary to the county board chairmanship, and C. Richard Anderson to the forest preserve presidency. (The 24-member county board also serve as forest preserve commissioners.)

After the first ballot failed to elect a chairman, Jerry Beyer advised Dist. 5 Rep. Jim Dolan of Libertyville to abandon his candidacy for the office. Dolan was the candidate of the regular Republicans. He then switched his support to LaBelle, who was re-elected to the county board chairmanship on the second ballot. "The Anderson Three" have never forgiven Beyer for supporting LaBelle. Yet, Beyer had promised to support Anderson's candidacy for the chairmanship if his vote was the decisive one in the election. Beyer realized that Anderson didn't have a chance to win the chairmanship, and cast his ballot for Jim LaBelle. Thus, the seeds of a major political feud were planted in Dist. 6. What are Beyer's prospects for re-election? Stay tuned.

Income Averaging May Mean A Lower Tax Rate

Taxpayers using the income averaging method of tax computation when filing a federal income tax return can save money, the Internal Revenue Service says.

In income averaging, part of an unusually large amount of taxable income is taxed at lower rates. The easiest way to determine whether a taxpayer can benefit from income averaging is to fill out Schedule G, Income Averaging.

Fewer taxpayers are benefiting from income averaging due to the Tax Reform Act of 1984. Perhaps the most important effect of the law is that it takes substantially more taxable income in the current year than was previously necessary in order to benefit from income averaging.

Twadell Closes Out Career As Treasurer's Secretary

Something new will be occurring at the Lake County Treasurer's office next week.

For the first time in 20 years, the friendly voice Aimee Twadell will not be answering the phones at (312) 360-6363.

Instead, Twadell will be beginning her retirement after two decades of service to the county.

"We will miss her," Lake County Treasurer Kack "Red" Anderson said at a retirement party for Twadell on Friday.

Twadell's last day at the Lake County Building in Waukegan would have been near perfect for one of her hobbies - golf. Anderson and Twadell's cohorts took a couple of hours off from their busy schedule to give Twadell a retirement party. She received a state license plate with the words "Aimee T" on it from Anderson.

Twadell said she will be enjoying one of her many hobbies, such as golfing, during her newfound free time.

"I think maybe I'll take a vacation to Florida in the winter months," Twadell said.

Twadell began in the treasurer's office in the mid-1960s. Before that, she worked for Warren Twp. Supervisor Bob Depke at the township level.

In the 20 years of answering telephones, Twadell has had to deal with irate taxpayers on the "front lines."

"We do get quite a few calls," Twadell said.

Some taxpayers blame the treasurer's department for any increase in taxes.

"All we do is send out the bills," she said.

There's plenty in Lake

County to keep the office personnel hopping.

"We're busy all the time. But when the tax bills are due June 1 and Sept. 1, those are our busiest days," Twadell said.

Twadell's working with taxes included the primitive method of heavy tax books.

If someone wanted to know tax information, Twadell would have to search through big, heavy books for the answers.

Now, though, the office of the treasurer is dotted with computer terminals, something that Twadell said made her job easier.

Provide HealthCare At Hospital

Home health care services out of Memorial Hospital, Burlington, are now being provided by Midwest Medical Homecare Specialists.

In a joint effort between Memorial and the Burlington Clinic, Midwest Medical has an office in the hospital and is offering skilled nursing, home health aides, homemaker services, plus physical, occupational and speech therapies.

Program director at Memorial for Midwest is Laurel Ingram, RN, who has been with the agency for over a year. She will coordinate home care planning for patients being discharged from the hospital.

"I receive referrals from Pam Mueller and Cathy Mass (Memorial's discharge planners)," she explained. "I look at the patient's chart, talk to him or her, meet with the family, do an insurance check and let them know what's available and what we can do for them. We keep people from having to go to nursing homes and help them maintain the style of living they had before they were hospitalized."

Traditionally, home health care has included such things as changing dressings and monitoring medications. Recent care has been expanded to patients who go home with IV therapy and continuous infusion therapy which might be chemotherapy or medications for relief of chronic pain.

Midwest Medical has been serving patients in the Burlington area since April of 1984 from an office in Paddock Lake. From that location, services are provided in Racine, Kenosha and Walworth Counties.

On Sunday, March 1, Ingram and other Midwest registered nurses will be doing blood sugar checks at the Burlington Kiwanis Pancake Day at Cooper School.

Questions regarding the types of services available can be directed to Ingram at (414) 763-2411 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Farmers Must File Earlier

Some farmers and commercial fishermen must file their 1986 federal income tax returns and pay any tax due by March 2, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1985 or 1986 gross income from farming or fishing and did not pay estimated tax by Jan. 15, 1987, (or who paid by that date and underestimated their tax liability), must file their returns and pay all tax due by March 2, 1987, to avoid paying a penalty.

Free IRS publications 225, Farmer's Tax Guide; 595, Guide for Commercial Fishermen; and 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax, provide additional information.

To order these publications, taxpayers should write or call the IRS.

Slate Scholastic Bowl

On Saturday, Feb. 28, teams from the Northwest Suburban conference schools will compete in the first Scholastic Bowl tournament for the conference. It will be held at Johnsburg High School and will provide an opportunity for student to test their knowledge on a wide range of subjects drawn from a typical high school curriculum.

The format will be similar to the old G.E. College Bowl tv series, but will incorporate changes suggested by the IHSA. The tournament will help prepare the teams for competition in the first IHSA-sponsored state tournament in scholastics, which will begin with sectionals on May 2.

These tournament are designed to encourage higher levels of academic achievement and they serve to reward that achievement in the same manner that sports tournaments reward high levels of achievement in athletics.

Perform At Concert

Toccatas and Flourishes, an organ-trumpet duo, will perform in the fourth concert of the Lake County Community Concert Assn.'s subscription series at Waukegan West High School auditorium at 8 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 28.

Organist Richard Morris and trumpeter Scott Thornburg, in their 13th season of concertizing, combine first-rank performance of classical music with their own humorous musical insights and treat their audiences to music written over four centuries.

Admission is by season ticket only. Tickets for individual concerts are not available. Series tickets for the 1987-88 season will be on sale at the concert.

Look Into Western Mortgage's Business Practices

by GLORIA DAVIS

With the business practices of a nationwide loan and mortgage brokerage company, headquartered in Silver Lake, Wis., under investigation by the Kenosha County Sheriff's Dept. and the county district attorney's office, the president of Western Mortgage and Finance Inc. of Wis. and Ill., Keith Kuhlman is charging that the "malicious investigation" and the media coverage of the investigation is hurting business and lawsuits will be forthcoming.

At press time, Lt. Lee Ormson of the sheriff's department said that there was nothing new in the investigation that has been under way for weeks.

Numerous complaints from both Illinois and Wisconsin, made to the sheriff's department and local police departments from banks, former employees, businesses and residents, of checks written on closed accounts and accounts with insufficient funds caused law enforcement authorities to look into the operation of the brokerage company.

Kuhlman blames the investigation for causing banks to close Western's accounts and tie the company's cash up, but adds the company has made bounced checks good in cash payments.

Interviews with some recipients of Western's bad checks show no attempt to redeem the checks with cash payments. These checks were written to former employees as salary payments, on investments and payments for business services.

Kuhlman reportedly admitted to a Kenosha County daily newspaper that "some laws may have been inadvertently broken," but the intensive investigation is not called for.

A Western's public relations representative says the company has been so successful in its short operation in Silver Lake that it is spreading its operation to California. Other reports have Kuhlman returning to Kenosha County where he was raised after selling Californian real estate.

When Western first appeared on the scene, California was in the company's name. The name of that state was soon dropped and Illinois added.

Reports have Western's salesmen operating in Kenosha, Lake and Cook counties.

The company which has remodeled the old bank building on Lake St. in Silver Lake, has recently spread its operations to the closed lumber yard, just across the railroad tracks from the bank building.

The Silver Lake Village Board has had confrontations with the company which allegedly opened without procuring proper permits, and has violated some village ordinances concerning burning, etc.

An interoffice memo has Western employing 60 people and aiming to triple that staff in the next few months.

The main business of the company is procuring low interest rate refinancing on mortgages and low interest rate loans for clients with a little real estate investing thrown in.

The supposed competition with area banks has drawn a "jealousy" accusation which Kuhlman also blames for the company's trouble with area banks.

Western has been peppering the local newspapers with large ads for sales and other business personnel, remortgages and real estate deals, loaded with fast money making promises from $8,000 a month in salary earnings, to 7.75 percent mortgage refinancing, to 20 percent return on short-term investments.

County To Aid Texas

Chief Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit Fred A. Geiger announced that he is responding to a request from the Texas Dept. of Corrections and American Probation and Parole Assn. that Lake County officials act as consultants to the Texas Prison System, which is presently on shutdown and in a state of crisis.

Texas has requested that director of court services George Gallagher come to Texas to give a presentation of the successful Lake County programs involving intensive probation, electronic monitoring, and probation management.

Gallagher will be in Texas Feb. 26 and 27 assisting the Texas Dept. of Corrections in the possibility of setting up similar types of programs in their systems. Accompanying Gallagher will be Deputy Director Don Horn, who directly supervises personnel involved in these programs.

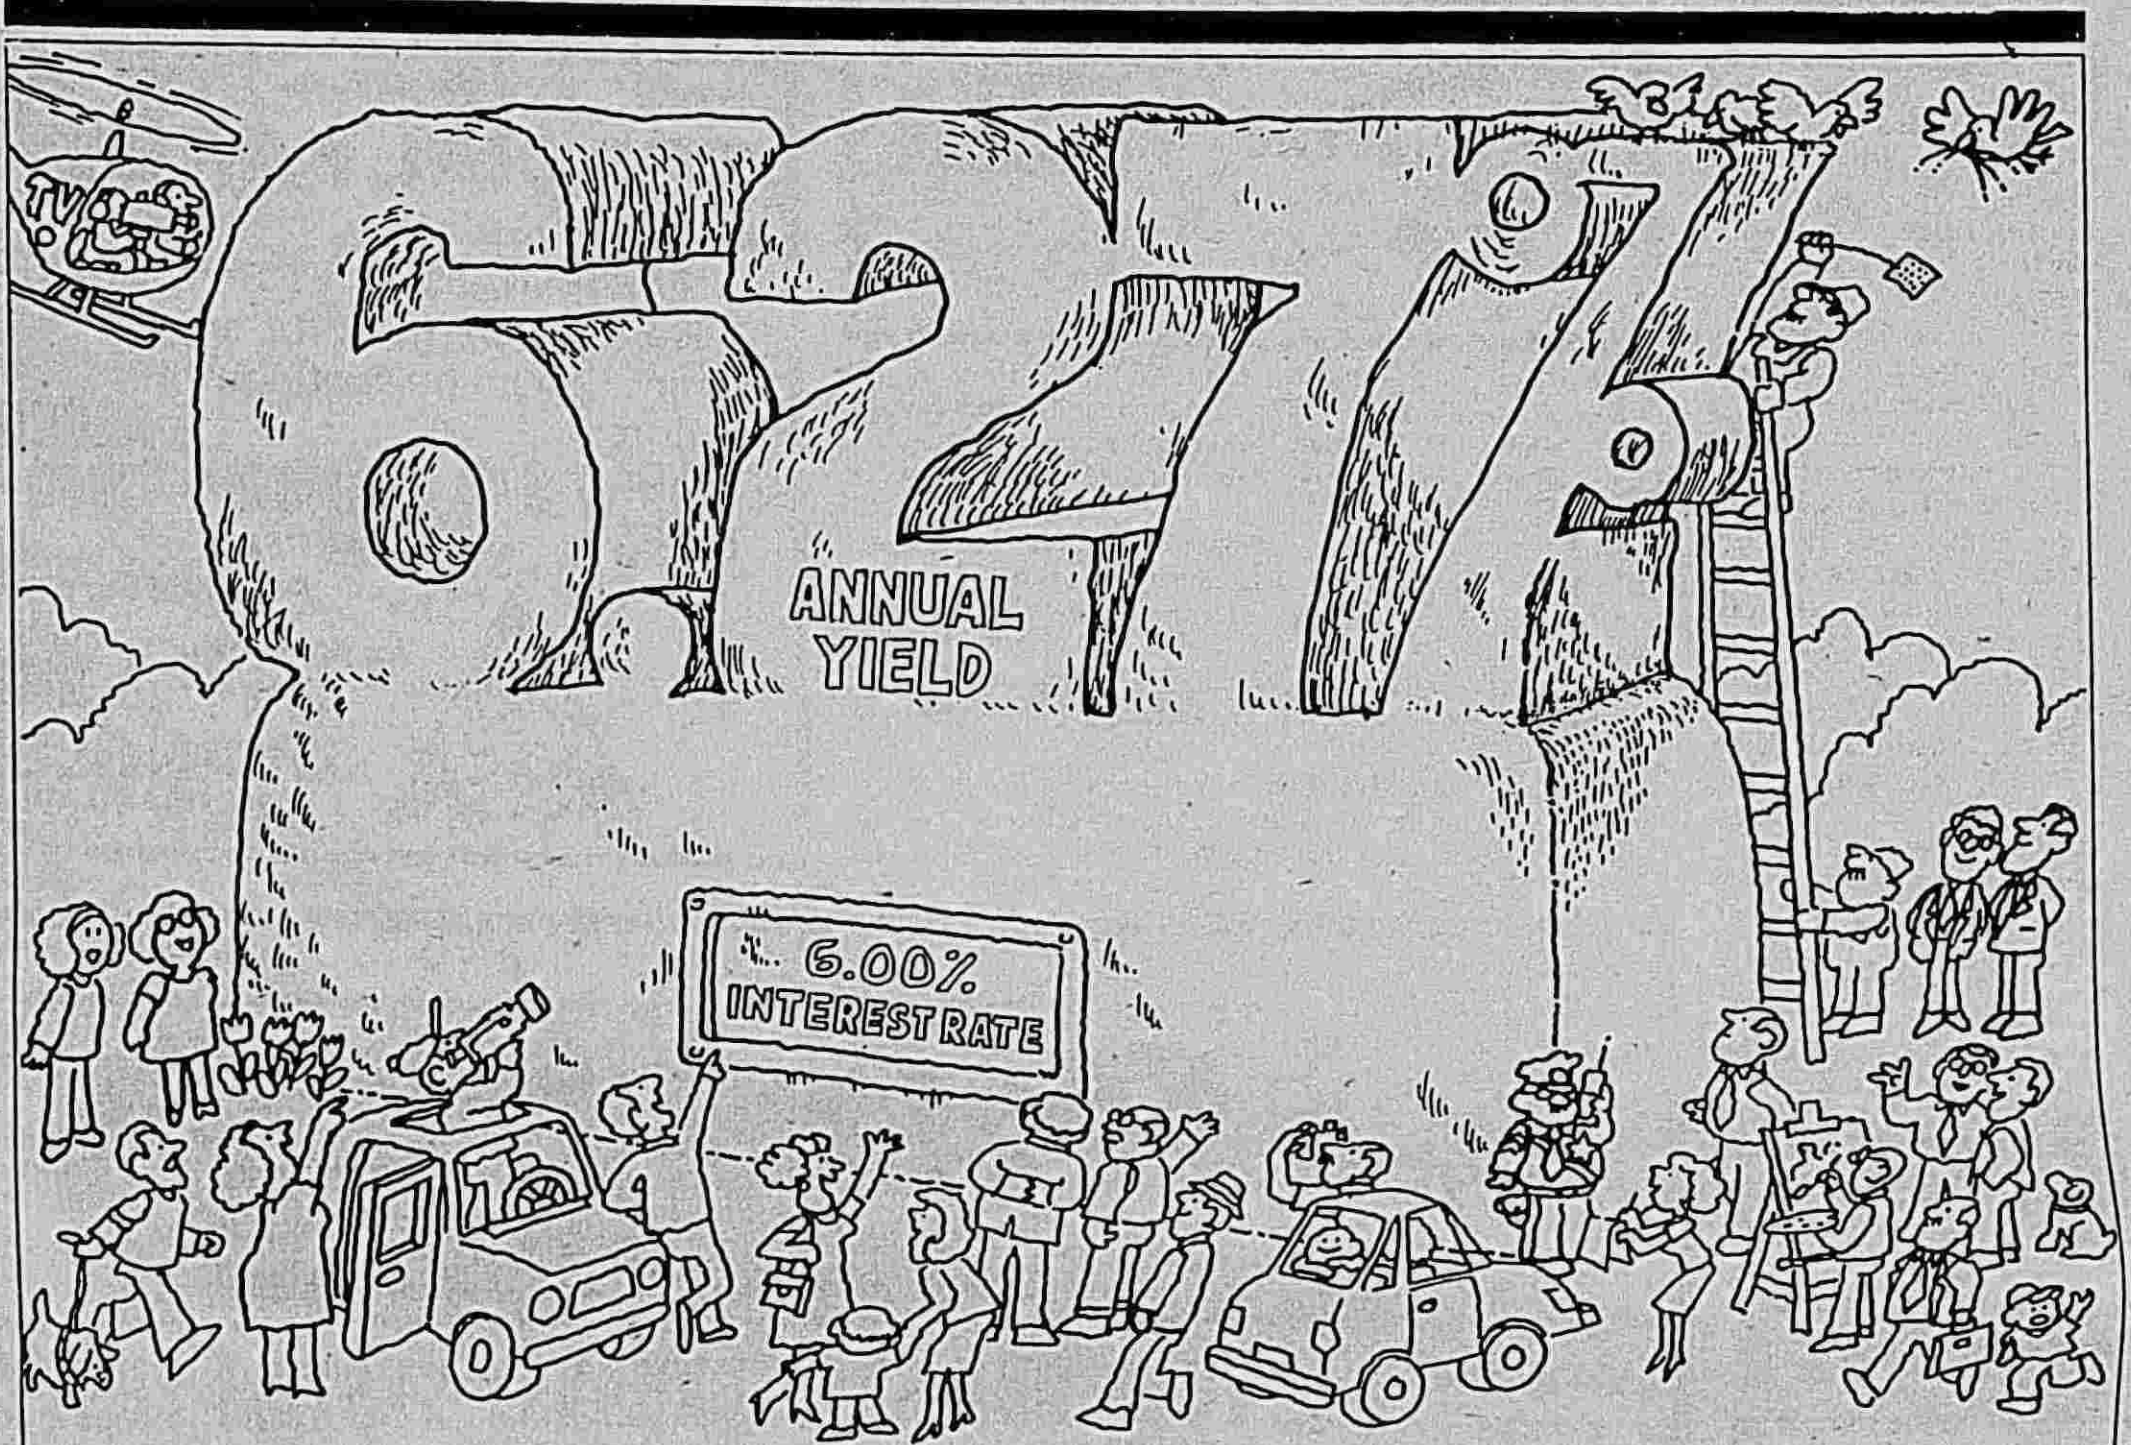

Judge Geiger stated that the entire costs for the trip will be paid for by the State of Texas.

Round Lake Activist Runs For Citizens Utility Board

Tim Mears, a resident of Round Lake and staff member of the Lake County Community Action Project, has announced his candidacy for the 12th Dist. seat

Hold 'Thank You' Event

The annual Thank You Celebration of the United Way of Lake County has been scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 26 at the Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Bill Saxelby, 1986 general campaign chairman, vice-president/midwest area manager, American Scientific Products Industrial, and Bill Tyler, 1986 president, board of directors, assistant vice-president commercial systems, Northbrook Property and Casualty Insurance Co., will host the 1986 Community Spirit Awards presentation.

Volunteers in the planning, allocations, campaign, communications and finance and administrative divisions will be honored. Over 70 contributor awards will be presented in the categories of: major contributor, outstanding achievement, first time and combined federal campaign awards.

Contributors to the United Way of Lake County, volunteers and other interested parties are welcome. The cost is $5 per person. For more information about the awards presentation or the United Way of Lake County, call the marketing division at (312) 662-3580.

The United Way of Lake County provides funding to over 96 human service programs through its 35 member agencies. The 96 programs provide a myriad of services to Lake County residents.

on the Citizens Utility Board (CUB). CUB is a consumer organization established by the state legislature to represent utility consumers before the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) in rate hearings and all legal matters relating to utilities.

Utility consumers can join the organization by paying a $5 membership fee, entitling them to a quarterly newsletter and a vote for board members.

Announcing his candidacy,

Mears said, "CUB members in the 12th district feel isolated, left out. We need a strong voice to represent us and keep in touch with us."

"I feel that 12 years of experience in dealing with utility issues and nine years running energy assistance programs in Lake County gives me unique qualifications for the CUB board. I have seen first-hand and often the effects of high energy bills on low-income consumers. I have seen literally hundreds of families shut off from their heat or lights because their bills were just too high to pay. I know many, many senior citizens and others on limited incomes whose utility bills can eat up half their income."

Persons who were registered CUB members by

Feb. 2 will be eligible to participate in the election scheduled in March. All members will receive their ballots in the mail.

Wrestlers Coming To CLC

Hacksaw Todd and two other events.

Tickets are $9 for reserved seats and $7 for general admission. For tickets or more information, call CLC at (312) 223-6601, ext. 475.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you who makes me see everything, and you who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and You who are with me. I in this dialogue want to thank you for everything and to confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great material desires may be, I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory.
Amen.

Thank you for your love toward me and my loved ones. Persons must pray
this prayer three consecutive days without asking your wish. After the third day your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

Weekly Tip: Welcome news ideas from old friends. Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) A close relative brings some unsettling news. Try not to judge before you know all the facts. You may be in for more of a pleasant surprise.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Be patient with those who aren't sure how to handle the news you bring. Some may deny what you have to say; some may be overwhelmed by it.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) You may find things easing up much more quickly as your ideas start gaining acceptance. Be prepared to have to soothe some ruffled feathers.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) A new friendship blossoms into something more meaningful. Put aside lingering doubts left over from past relationships and look forward to new ones.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) Put more faith in your ability to overcome the difficult trial you're going through. Your own strength has reserves you haven't even begun to tap yet.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A previous disappointment is reviewed as new facts come through to explain exactly why things happened as they did.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Just when your goal is in sight, an unexpected obstacle may be placed in your way. But you can turn the waiting time to your advantage.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Someone is quick to point a finger at you: be just as quick to stand up and make a credible case for yourself.

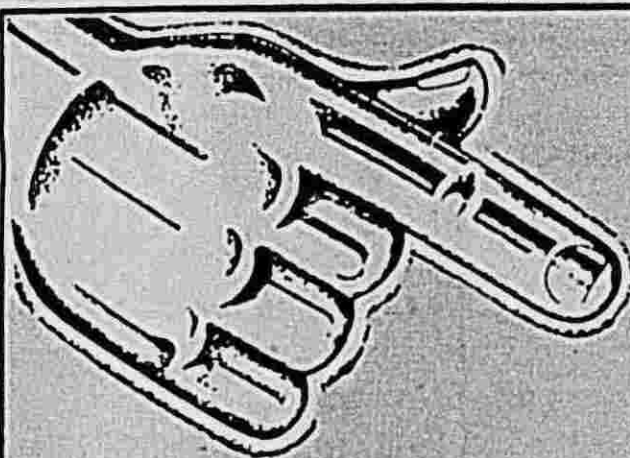

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't ignore a minor health problem. Taking care of it now could keep it from recurring later. An on-the-job situation takes a confusing turn.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Work out complications in a legal deal before making any agreements, either verbal or written. Unresolved questions could become a problem.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Reexamine all papers. Ask questions. Do more research. Delay making final commitments until you're sure you understand everything.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) The new business project begins to run more smoothly as you find more ways to handle complications. Consider delegating more work to trusted associates.
